Soft Soap Will Be Welcome

It may be revealingly significant that Mr. Eisenhower has named a soap man, who may be expected to come with a supply of soft soap for emergencies, to replace Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

Neil H. McElroy, 52-year-old president of Procter & Gamble, is the replacement. It is not too much to say most Americans will be relieved. That this category also will include the President of the United States would seem entirely logical.

The nation tried hard to like Charles E. Wilson. He was billed the rugged individual type. He had been a great success in General Motors. To be sure his success came during the period when, in the language of the time, all one had to do was open the doors and jump back out of the way of the customers. But still he was a big man in his field.

There were rumblings at the time that some of his directors privately were happy to see him called to higher service. But this was discounted and no director ever said as much.

Newspaper men liked him as a source of news.

Mr. McElroy almost certainly will never refer to the White House as a "dung hill." Nor is he likely to match Mr. Wilson's famous discussion of the unemployed in terms of hunting dogs, who got out and hustled for food, and the kennel-type which sat around waiting to be fed,

Dreary Hearings

All this endeared Mr. Wilson to those whose task it is to cover the usually dreary, dull-as-ditchwater hearings staged by nervous bureaucrats. But they never quite managed to develop an affection for him, endearing though he was.

It was a remark at the outset of his winning a place on the Eisenhower team which got him off to a stumbling start. In those early days he tried to talk with congressmen as if they were corporation underlings. He informed them he believed that what was good for General Motors was good for the United States. It had a crass and selfish sound to it, as if he regarded the nation as a wholly owned subsidiary.

Whatever he meant, and he almost certainly did not mean to blunder, he provided the President's opponents with a weapon. It was easier to say it was an administration devoted to big business. Actually, while on that subject, the money rates have brought tremendous profits to larger corporations and financial houses. But there is another side to the coin. It can be said that some elements of big business have double-crossed, or betrayed, the President. He has sought to do something about inflation. But few of the so-called business statesmen have done anything to assist.

Price Increases

In fact, while leaders of labor and business have spoken out against inflation, neither has done more than speak. They have, while bewailing, pushed for escalator contracts which made inevitable further price and wage increases.

But that is another story.

Secretary Wilson's greatest fault, insofar as the public was concerned, was a seeming belief that he possessed the power of omniscience. There were stories kicking around the industry that some of his directors were often made uncomfortable by this Olympian attitude.

When the President himself got in the way of one of the Wilson verbal rocks, rolled down from Olympus, he, too, was bumped. Mr. Wilson on occasion refused to line up with the team but instead was discovered in the opposition line-up.

At any rate, about the only people who will be wistful about the Wilson departure will be the newsmen. If Mr. McElroy wishes to endear himself he can do so by remarking that the Capitol is a goose yard or a goat ranch.

This he almost certainly will not do. He comes from a good background for public life. Both his parents were teachers. He early learned hard work and thrift. When he received a scholarship to Harvard he took along $1,000 of his own earnings. He took a $100 a month job at Proctor & Gamble and, without pull, went up to $280,000 a year. He does not consider himself omniscient.

Legislators Back Road Pact Laws

Gowen, Freeman Ask Enforcement

By WILLIAM M. BATES

Two members of the Legislature Friday called for the enforcement of a state law against farming out road work under county contracts to commercial contractors.

Reps. Charles L. Gowen of Glynn County and William B. Freeman of Monroe said the 1949 act clearly requires that the work must be done by county forces or convict labor.

WIDESPREAD PRACTICE

Many counties are known to rent the services or equipment of contracting firms to do all or part of the road work they are awarded through county contracts.

The amount paid to the county is set at the same rate as the average for the same kind of work let at competitive bidding for the previous 60 days.

Gowen said newspaper reports of county contract work being done by private firms should be looked into by the General Assembly in January.

"Any loopholes that might exist should be closed and the law strengthened to carry out its intent," the lawyer declared.

Freeman said the enforcement of the law "is a matter that addresses itself to the administrative supervision of the State Highway Department."

ENFORCE OR REPEAL

"So long as there is a law that road construction contracts negotiated between the Highway Department on the one hand and counties on the other hand shall not be transferred to private construction companies, it should be enforced," Freeman said in a statement.

"If the law is bad, it should be repealed," he added, "but as long as it remains the law it should be enforced in spirit as well as in letter."

Gowen said he had campaigned against the practice of "negotiated" county contracts in his 1954 race for governor. He said he had not changed his mind about it."

He said the renting of equipment from private contractors by counties to perform county contracts is "a violation of the spirit of the law passed in 1949." He pointed out that the law is intended to curb the practice of negotiated highway contracts.

Ike Appoints Irene Dunne To U.N. Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Actress Irene Dunne, a Hollywood veteran with "a great interest" in world issues, was named by President Eisenhower today as an alternate delegate to the United Nations General Assembly in New York next month.

The only other actress ever named to a U.N. position was Myrna Loy, wife of former State department official Holland Sargeant. She served on the U.S. Commission for the U.N. Educational, Social and Cultural Organization.

Irene Dunne

Administration officials said Miss Dunne, wife of Dr. Francis D. Griffin, was chosen because she is regarded as an outstanding woman with a great interest in international affairs.

They also said that she is an outstanding Catholic laywoman. In 1940, she was awarded the Laetare Medal, given annually by the University of Notre Dame to the nation's outstanding Catholic layman.

Queen Will Be First To Step Foot On Washington's New Red Carpet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The State Department reported today that the new red carpet it uses for rolling out purposes during visits of foreign dignitaries will save the taxpayers money.

In answer to a question, a State Department spokesman said the carpet cost $998, including mothproofing.

For years the department has been renting a red carpet for each visit, at $100 a clip. Finally someone figured out that in 10 visits, a new red carpet would pay for itself.

The next feet to get the royal red carpet treatment: Queen Elizabeth's. She will be here in October.

50-Mile Bertha Roars Into Texas

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9 (AP)—Tropical storm Bertha, no longer a feared hurricane, lost some of its strength tonight and apparently would become even weaker as it continued to move over land in east Texas.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau had reduced Bertha from a hurricane to a tropical storm in its latest bulletin.

The Weather Bureau's latest advisory said Bertha had gradually lost force since moving inland. It located the storm about midway between Beaumont, Tex., and Lake Charles, La., and said it was moving northwestward about 12 miles per hour.

50 M.P.H.

Bertha's highest winds were estimated at 50 miles per hour in scattered squalls extending out 50 to 100 miles from the center. The minimum velocity of a hurricane is 75 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said Bertha would continue to weaken as it moved over land.

Earlier tonight, Bertha had crossed the path of its murderous sister of six weeks ago, hurricane Audrey.

In Lake Charles, Calcasieu Parish Sheriff Henry Reid said no damage was reported in his parish (county) or in any of the adjoining parishes. The strongest winds were reported between Lake Charles and Cameron near Hackberry.

Fewer persons apparently were in Bertha's way when it reached the Cameron area. Most coastal residents, their stubbornness washed away by Audrey's tides, fled to higher grounds at first warning.

The small fishing and hunting town of Cameron in extreme southwest Louisiana, all but eradicated by Audrey's merciless hammering, was almost deserted. Residents fled to Lake Charles, 60 miles to the north.

CAJUNS HANG ON

The high tides started at daybreak. Coast Guard units received distress calls from boats and stranded motorists. Units from Galveston pulled several cars to higher ground early today. The patrol boat Nike answered the call of the tug Whiteman, which reported it had a disabled rudder and was battling heavy seas.

Oil drilling crews off the coasts of both states were the first to head for the safety of the mainland.

Continental Oil Co. brought out all of its crews, totaling nearly 250 men; 240 were removed from Kerr-McGee's eight offshore rigs in the threatened area. Another 150 were brought in from rigs operated by Gulf Oil Co.

Dio Payoff Bared at Union Quiz

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee was told today that the old AFL Auto Workers let gangster Johnny (Dio) Dioguardia and two others set $396,000 as their price for leaving the union.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy thus summed up the evidence just before the senators recessed their hearing for the weekend. The committee is investigating allegations of improper labor-management activities.

TELLS OF $80,000

Heaton testified that Anthony Doria, ousted secretary-treasurer of the Allied Industrial Workers, was promised $80,000 if he got out of the union. Doria was involved in welfare fund scandals.

Actually Dio has received only $25,000, plus a union-owned Cadillac, Heaton said, and he is suing to collect on union notes for the balance.

Heaton told the investigators Dio got $16,000 when he left the old union in 1954. It was also testified that Angelo Inciso was allowed to take along a Chicago local with assets of $300,000 when he departed under fire from the UAW.

DIO'S "FIRM HAND"

The committee has produced evidence that Dio, while ostensibly out of the union, retained a firm hand in its affairs behind the scenes.

Heaton also testified that James

Japan Receives $7,000,000 Loan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP) — The World Bank today loaned Japan the equivalent of seven million dollars to help a multipurpose irrigation and power project in the Aichi region of Central Japan.

The project is expected to increase the production of Japan's vital food crops by about 200,000 tons a year as well as supplying drinking water and additional power for industry in three cities including Nagoya, the third most important industrial city.

Ike Veto Threat Swamped, 329-58

By C. P. TRUSSELL

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 — The House passed tonight a bill to give an 11 per cent pay raise to nearly 1,000,000 government employes. This would include those in the classified or white collar services and some 10,000 employes of the legislative and judiciary branches.

The vote was 329 to 58.

WARNING IGNORED

The cost would be an estimated $530,000,000 a year and would be on top of a $317,000,000 annual increase for 500,000 postal employes, voted recently.

This action was taken in the face of a threatened veto by President Eisenhower. Warnings that the increase would set off a spiral of pay increases appeared to catch no appreciable House attention.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, contained some limitations. Under no conditions could an annual increase in pay exceed $1,000. Nor could the general increase put a salary of an official above the present $16,000 limit placed by the classification act.

AVERAGE $518

It was figured that the average salary increase among the beneficiaries would be about $518 a year. The postal workers got $564 more.

This was the administration's second recent defeat on pay rise measures. Yet, the volume of House votes indicated that a response to vetoes, requiring a two-thirds vote to override, would prevail as far as the House was concerned.

Advocates of the $530,000,000 pay rise contended that it would not be inflationary on these grounds:

1. That approximately 20 per cent of the increase would be returned to the treasury in added taxes on officials and employes.

2. That the increase would only allow workers to keep up with the cost of living. There was great disagreement as to whether pay rises remained behind cost of living levels.

3. That the increases would tend to hold trained personnel in government service rather than losing them to industry and business. It was also argued that it cost more than a pay rise to train new personnel.

It is expected that the bill will reach the Senate before the congressional adjournment. Predictions are that the final figure will be somewhere between the Senate committee's 7½ per cent rise and the 11 per cent voted by the House today.

Girl, 16, Dies In Wreck at Expressway

A teen-aged girl was killed and two boys injured in a two-car accident on Mt. Paran road, just east of the northwest Expressway.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Grady Hospital was Patricia Rose Geoghegan, 16, of 4112 Conway Valley Rd., NW.

Richardson Leonard Henley Jr., 17, of 4400 Skyland Dr., NE, suffered injuries to the right arm and William Moseley Grigsby III, of 1049 W. Conway Rd., NW, was shaken up. Robert Fleming Rice, 16, of 1175 W. Conway Rd., NW, also in the accident, apparently was not injured.

Police said one of the boys stated that the girl and Henley were traveling in a foreign sports car and the other two boys, friends of theirs, were driving behind in a station wagon. The sports car apparently went out of control, flipped over and righted itself, they said. The station wagon swerved to avoid hitting the sports car and ran into a telephone pole, the officers said they were told.

Ambulance driver Horace Bearden said one of the youths attempted to jump out of the ambulance as it was traveling 80 mph down the Expressway.

Bearden said he managed to yank the youth back, stopped, turned him over to a patrol car, and then continued the run to the hospital with the fatally injured girl.

Weekend To Stay In the Low 90s

Weatherwise, Atlantans may expect more of the same for the weekend.

The Weather Bureau advises that conditions will be mostly fair and warm Saturday and Sunday. Extremes predicted for both days are 68 and 92.

Rayburn Asks Acceptance of Senate's Bill

By ALBERT RILEY

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—That legislative time bomb—the civil rights bill—still lay on the speaker's desk in the House today, while its fuse became more entwined with power politics.

Not until next week—probably Tuesday—is it expected to explode or be dashed into the cold water of partisan struggle that might delay its detonation until next year.

More sharply than ever were the Democratic and Republican lines being drawn over the bill's controversial jury trial amendment.

RAYBURN APPEALS

House Speaker Sam Rayburn today appealed for his colleagues to accept the Senate version, with one minor compromise, and Rep. Celler (D-NY), reportedly had drafted a House amendment to achieve that goal.

Celler's hand in the strategy was significant, since he has been one of the strongest advocates of a civil rights bill in the House.

But House Republicans were not going along with this proposed compromise in their insistence on strengthening the bill in a joint conference committee.

SOUTHERN OPPOSITION

Neither were many of the Southern Democrats, who are strongly opposed to even the modified Senate bill, on principle.

House acceptance of the Senate amendments in toto seems an impossibility, so the strategy of the Democratic leadership to get a bill passed appeared to be shaping up this way in latest maneuvering:

To send the bill to the Rules Committee with a tacit agreement that the panel would recommend that the House accept all Senate amendments except for Celler's modification of the jury trial proviso.

If enough Republicans and Southern Democrats could be persuaded

2 Refugees Sentenced To 5½ Years as Spies

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Two European refugees who found a haven in this country were sentenced today to 5½ years each in prison for spying on the United States for Russia.

At the same time, Col. Rudolph Ivanovich Abel, was held without bail in another federal court on an entirely different spy charge. He was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn and faces a possible death sentence if convicted.

Sent to prison from U.S. District Court in Manhattan were Jacob Albam, 64, who came here from Lithuania; and Mrs. Myra Sobel, 52, born in Russia. They seemed taken aback by the sentence. The blonde Mrs. Sobel had laughed in court when arrested. Today she wept.

The pair had pleaded guilty to reduced espionage charges, thus avoiding the possibility of the death sentence under the original indictment. Maximum sentences under their pleas were 10 years each and fines. No fines were levied.

Their cooperation with the government in baring secrets of the spy ring apparently led them to hope for greater leniency. The government also said neither of them was an important cog in a ring headed by Mrs. Sobel's husband, Jack. He is to be sentenced Sept. 18.

Acting U.S. Atty. Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., told sentencing Dist. Judge Richard H. Levet that Mrs. Sobel played the part of a wife doing the bidding of her husband and at no time did she initiate any action in furtherance of the objects of the conspiracy "nor commit any overt act other than at the direction of her husband."

Mrs. Sobel's lawyer, George Wolf, pleaded with Judge Levet to free her on probation for the sake of her 17-year-old son Lawrence.

Mrs. Sobel's husband also faces a maximum 10-year sentence when he comes before the court next month. He, too, has cooperated with the government in an attempt to win leniency.

An obscure figure in New York's animal hair products industry, Sobel headed a well-knit international spy ring from about 1944. It fed defense data to Russian agents at clandestine meetings in New York, Paris, Geneva, Lausanne and Vienna.

Abel, 55, who appeared in court in Brooklyn, had no direct connection with the activities of the Sobel ring. He posed for nine years as a

Wasp Stings Kill Sumter Farmer

AMERICUS, Aug. 9 (AP)—Clarence Edward Castleberry, 51, Sumter County farmer, died today a few minutes after being stung by several wasps at his home, two miles north of Americus.

The wasps attacked Castleberry in a storage house in the rear of his home. He died before medical aid could arrive. A physician said the farmer was allergic to insect stings.

Castleberry is survived by his widow, one son, two daughters, four sisters and four brothers.

SEE YOU LATER, ALICE GATOR

Constitution State News Service

CALHOUN, Aug. 9—Alice the alligator was about the saddest reptile in Gordon County Friday. Her mate, Alexander, a strapping five-foot, 90-pounder, hit the road Sunday and nobody's heard a word about him since.

Mrs. Claude Stamey, owner of the alligators, said Alexander scaled the four-foot wall of its pen and apparently headed for a nearby creek.

"Poor Alice," says Mrs. Stamey, "is just so sad. She won't eat. And she's ill. She's just liable to bite anybody that gets near her.

"I'm afraid she'll die of heartbreak if we don't get Alexander back," Mrs. Stamey said.

ALICE WEEPS

Heartbreak at Calhoun

Another couple of gators lived with Alice and Alexander for a while. Some youngsters poured oil on one of the gators and killed it. The other died later, apparently of something it ate.

Then youngsters seemed to take great delight in tormenting Alice and Alexander. They would give the reptiles indigestible food and just "pick at 'em in general," Mrs. Stamey said.

The Stameys are offering a reward for Alexander's safe return, but Mrs. Stamey advised Alexander's would-be finder to phone the Stamey home if the alligator is discovered. He isn't partial to strangers.

3 Climbers Battling Alpine Gales; Partner Left Behind Is Feared Dead

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland, Aug. 9 (AP)—Death borne on a howling, snow-laden gale was believed tonight to have struck one of four climbers trapped on Eiger Mountain. Hope for the other three dwindled.

The storm of the endless winter high in the Swiss Alps lashed the three men who had been observed as desperate survivors at nightfall.

The overhanding north wall where they clung for their sixth night had claimed 18 lives in the past on this route to the top of the 13,036-foot peak.

When last seen through a telescope Friday evening, the three were still 1,200 feet short of the summit. Edging upward through a vertical tunnel.

A hundred or more feet below the three hung what is believed to be the body of the fourth. His agony was observed from a rescue plane in the afternoon.

Willi Balmer, chief of the Grindelwald Rescue Service, said the map was tied to the rocks

He waved to the plane, but then his head suddenly dropped forward and he showed no more sign of life. Balmer, who flew in the plane as an observer, said he was certain the man was dead.

The mountaineer apparently had been weakened by injury or exhaustion to the point where he could no longer keep pace with his comrades. They left him as they began creeping toward the top.

Upward is the only way out because they are trapped on an overhang. If they can make the summit, they will find an easier trail leading down the south side. So far as any one here knows, no one ever has descended the north face and lived.

The original party is believed to have included two Italians and two Germans. Their identities are not known here. The climb apparently started last weekend. On Monday they found themselves stranded on the overhang in the central Swiss Alps about 25 miles north of the Italian border. A false step would have meant a 3,000-foot drop.

The climbers remained almost motionless, tied together, in one spot for four days until they decided to make a break this morning.

Khrushchev Expects Lasting World Peace

Russia Can Destroy Enemies If Driven to It, Germans Told

By HARRY GILROY

BERLIN, Aug. 9—Nikita S. Khrushchev vowed today that the Soviet Union did not want war and that its leaders were convinced there would be a lasting peace. The first secretary of the Soviet Communist party made these declarations in a speech in Leipzig.

He is in that city during a tour around the main industrial area of East Germany.

He said the Soviet Union was not fearful, adding:

ADVOCATE PEACE

"We possess every necessity to dispose of unwelcome guests and to destroy any aggressor." However, he went on, "We advocate peace."

The Soviet Union does not fear competition with the capitalist world, Khrushchev said.

"Socialism assures culture and a high standard of living for all the people of the world." These goals can be reached only in peace and therefore, "We do not want war," he said.

He continued that war brought catastrophe, that the socialist order did not "need" war and that the Soviet Union never had started a war and never would start one.

Khrushchev commented that the banning of atomic bombs and the halting of nuclear weapons tests would offer "the greatest assurance of peace."

NEED BUNDESWEHR

The Soviet leader said that some persons in the West maintained "they need the Bundeswehr (West Germany army) and the Americans because they are threatened by the East."

He then denied the West had anything to fear from the Soviet Union. "The aim of these evil inventions is to camouflage their own intentions," he asserted.

He concluded that "the friendship of the German and Russian peoples constitutes the strongest force for peace."

At the S. M. Kirov plant in Leipzig, where heavy machinery is produced, he put his message in these words:

"We must prove that we achieve a higher standard of productivity and thereby also a higher standard of living which we have already achieved."

WITH ULBRICHT

Khrushchev was accompanied by Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader and deputy premier. Meanwhile, Anastas I. Mikoyan, a Soviet deputy premier, drove around towns on the Baltic Sea coast with Otto Grotewohl, East German premier.

At a farm in Markleeberg, a few miles from Leipzig, Khrushchev assumed the role of genial critic. Stalks of corn looked weak to him, he said.

He was quoted by A. D. N., East German official news agency, as having said "good corn cobs are gathered only from high plants." After an East German farm expert had given him an ear of corn to taste, the Soviet leader conceded that the plants were all right.

Next he entered into arguments with the expert over the amount of produce that should be obtained from each acre. He disposed of this discussion with the comment: "One must use a pencil for calculations. But I suggest we transfer our argument into the field. The field is the best judge."

Segregation Appeal Hit By Vatican

By ARNALDO CORTESI

ROME, Aug. 9—The Vatican took a serious and most unsympathetic view today of the appeal to Pope Pius XII by the New Orleans Association of Catholic Laymen against integration in their archdiocese.

A high Vatican source said the Catholic laymen of New Orleans committed "a grave error" as far as the substance of their case is concerned. They apparently think it conceivable that the Holy See could declare itself against integration.

This can never be so, it was stated in the Vatican, because the church is "concerned with souls and all souls are equally dear to her." It follows she is completely and unalterably opposed to all forms of discrimination — in New Orleans as much as in the Union of South Africa.

Their error of form is that they should have addressed their appeal not to the Pope but to the sacred congregation of the council. This department of the Vatican administration is committed to the "universal discipline of the secular clergy and the Christian people." The New Orleans Catholics' breach of church discipline is that they let it be publicly known that they had appealed to the Pope against their ecclesiastical superior.

British Push Slowed by Omani Rebels

KERSHA, Oman, Aug. 9 (AP)—Unexpected resistance by the forces of the Imam of Oman caused a mixed British and Muscat force to pause today for a general overhaul before attacking Firq, about two miles north of Kersha.

The army of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman reached the outskirts of Firq yesterday but ran into heavy rifle fire from well-concealed positions. It withdrew last night into Kersha to prepare a concerted attack.

(British sources told the Associated Press in Manama, Bahrain, that Brig. J. A. R. Robinson, commander of the joint ground forces, flew to Manama from Oman to urge an all-out air attack on Firq. Up to now the British have refrained from action that might result in the death of many Arabs. It was said that the rebel cave hideouts had been located, and a program to wipe out the defenders was expected tomorrow.)

British Navy Shadowing 2 Polish Mystery Subs

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The British navy today shadowed two Polish submarines moving down Britain's east coast, but tonight there was still no clue as to what they were doing or where they were heading.

A naval spokesman said there was no confirmation of earlier rumors that the crews might be preparing to seek asylum here.

POLISH ENSIGN

The submarines flew the ensign of Communist Poland, but the Admiralty said it believed they are Russian-built craft of the later "M" class, designed for coastal work.

Meanwhile, a Syrian source in Cairo said Syria expects to get two small submarines and six torpedo boats as part of a new Soviet aid agreement signed Tuesday in Moscow. The Egyptians took delivery of three submarines last month.

Moscow announcements of the Soviet-Syrian aid agreement did not mention arms. They told only of a wide range of Soviet economic and technical assistance to Syria, which is doing business with the Russians largely on the cuff. The Syrian informant said the aid would amount to 66 to 100 million dollars.

His report of the prospective naval acquisitions coincided with the mysterious voyage by the two Polish submarines down Britain's east coast.

One theory was that they were on their way from the Baltic to the Mediterranean for delivery in the Middle East. This was the same route taken by the three Soviet submarines recently handed over to President Nasser's navy at Alexandria.

POLISH INSIGN

The submarines were first sighted soon after dawn about 10 miles off the coast of Aberdeenshire, in northeast Scotland. Most of the day they kept a southward course roughly parallel to the coast, but tonight they were steering out into the North Sea and were some 50 miles off Newcastle upon Tyne, in northern England.

At one time they passed within 10 miles off the mouth of the Firth of Forth, a major British naval stronghold.

Most of the day two British coastal minesweepers kept track of the submarines. The Admiralty explained this was because the submarines' mission and destination were unknown.

At one point the British ships sent them a courtesy message asking if they needed assistance. The submarines replied "No" but gave no hint of their destination.

Let Insurors Buy Bonds, State Urged

Requiring insurance companies doing business in Georgia to invest some funds in local securities might ease the state's bond-selling difficulties, Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. said Friday.

Texas has such a law, and a similar one may be considered at the next session of the Georgia Assembly, he stated.

Thrasher also revealed that Thursday's increase in bank rates and discount rates apparently has spoiled the University Building Authority's best chance in months to sell some bonds.

ABOUT READY

A New York investment firm was "about ready" to buy $8 million worth of bonds at 4½ per cent interest, Thrasher stated. That is the maximum rate allowed by law.

But a representative telephoned Thrasher Thursday that his firm had to postpone action because of the change in bank rates.

The bonding authority wants to sell about $12 million in securities.

2.2 PER CENT

As late as 1955 the authority managed to sell bonds at 2.2 per cent, Thrasher added.

The Texas law to which the auditor refegred affects all insurance firms doing business in that state.

Insurance companies are required by law to post a certain percentage of their policy totals in reserve. The Texas law requires them to invest half of the reserve against Texas policies in Texas real estate or securities.

Carolina-Maryland Football Game Is Added to Queen's U.S. Itinerary

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Britain's Queen Elizabeth will attend the University of Maryland-North Carolina football game during her visit to this country in October, the White House announced today.

Releasing a partial schedule for the visit of the Queen and Prince Philip Oct. 16-21, the White House said Her Majesty requested that an American-style football game be added to the royal itinerary. The White House chose the game at nearby College Park, Md., Oct. 19. The royal pair also will visit the United Nations.

The schedule includes five formal dinners and a full dress ball. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the arrangements announced today covered only the major events on the itinerary.

The couple will arrive at Patrick Henry Airport, Va., on Oct. 16 and fly to Washington the following day after visiting the Jamestown, Va., festival commemorating the 350th anniversary of the first English settlement in this country.

U.S. Atom Plants Vetoed By House in Ike Victory

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The House handed President Eisenhower a major victory today by rejecting a Democratic plan to order the administration to build seven atomic reactors to produce electricity.

In a renewal of the old public-versus-private power fight, the House stripped from an atomic construction bill all but one of the Democratic-sponsored provisions to force the government to play a more direct role in the development of atomic power.

POLICY ENDORSED

The House action amounted to an endorsement of the administration's present policy of seeking to develop atomic energy for electrical purposes through a "partnership" agreement with private enterprise.

The House also voted to restore the $4,200,000 requested by the administration for research aid for a controversial reactor now under construction near Mohroe, Mich., by a private group headed by Detroit Edison.

COAL STATES HELP

The administration's lone setback came when the House, by a roll-call vote of 201 to 197, approved an outlay of three million dollars for design studies for a big nuclear reactor at the atomic installations at Hanford, Wash.

The other proposals for government-constructed power reactors were written into the bill by Democrats on the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. They charged that development of atomic power has been "lagging" under the administration's policy.

But a coalition of administration supporters, private power advocates and House members from coal producing states combined to delete the provisions.

Senate Votes Curb on Ike's Atom Powers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote tonight a bill placing a tight restriction on the President's authority to hand nuclear fuels over to the new International Atomic Energy Agency.

Each future transfer would have to have the specific approval of Congress, with some exceptions.

BACK TO HOUSE

The restriction—rejected yesterday by the House on a 298-99 vote—was written into a bill spelling out details of American participation in the world agency, created to promote President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal.

The Senate's action substituted the Senate's own measure for the House-approved bill and sent it back to the House and an inevitable conference to iron out differences.

The bill, if accepted later by the House, would require specific consent of Congress to each future transfer of fissionable material by this country to the agency.

NOT RETROACTIVE

The measure carries these two exceptions: 1. No congressional action would be necessary on the transfer of 5,000 kilograms of U-235 already promised by the President to the agency, or on amounts made available under his pledge that this country will match amounts offered by any other country between now and mid-1960.

The other exception would permit this country to give up to $10,000 worth of materials to one country or $50,000 worth to a group of countries in one year. This would be pretty much limited to quantities useful in research programs.

Polish Communists Clamp A Ceiling on Earnings

By JOHN MacCORMACK

WARSAW, Aug. 9—Under a new government decree most Poles will not be allowed to earn more than 15,000 zlotys a month. The amount is equivalent to $652 at the official tourist rate of exchange and less than $150 at the black market rate.

All income in excess of 15,000 zlotys a month will be confiscated. This will apply to the joint earnings of a husband and wife.

Exceptions will be made for "persons paid for their creative work of their scientific, educational, artistic, literary or journalistic activity." Such persons will be entitled to bank their income and be taxed only on what they spend.

RETROACTIVE

On incomes of more than 8,000 zlotys a month a surtax of 8 per cent, will be imposed.

The Polish Ministry of Finance said the new measure was aimed at "taxation abuses, concealment of incomes and economic frauds." It added that the move was designed to limit "excessive incomes derived by a section of the population."

What section of the population was meant seemed to be made clear by a further statement that the finance ministry had been told to collect more than 4,000,000,000 zlotys from "the non-socialized economy."

INTENDED TO CRUB

Supporters of the government said the new decree was intended to curb speculators and denied that it would effect so important an element of the non-socialized economy as the farmers.

One thing that seems certain is that the new decree slams the door on anything comparable to an economic policy on the Leninist formula, under which private initiative was allowed to revive the drooping Soviet economy and then suppressed.

Graham Hits Adultery as Greatest Sin

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said tonight adultery is the great sin of America.

"Not only by act but by looks, thoughts, reading of obscene magazines, listening to obscene stories and repeating them" Americans are breaking the 7th Commandment, Graham said.

He addressed 14,000 persons in Madison Square Garden in the 77th night of his New York revival crusade.

Graham warned, "Not just the overt act but the intent will be judged by God."

The evangelist also labeled as sinners "parents who have not set the example for their children, causing their children to become wayward." These parents, he said, will be held accountable by God.

Graham's sermon was based on chapter 21 of 2 Kings — an account of Manasseh, a king of Israel. The evangelist said he was the "wickedest man that ever lived" and drew analogies from his life to the "sins of today."

At Graham's call, 335 persons came forward to make "decisions for Christ," raising the over-all total of such decisions to 44,172. Attendance since the crusade began May 15 now totals 1,460,800.

Actress Who Knew All the Secrets Spied for Confidential, Editor Says

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9 (AP)—A former editor of Confidential testified today that actress Francesca de Scaffa offered to supply the scandal magazine with stories "even if I have to have an affair with the man involved."

New York magazine writer Howard Rushmore told a conspiracy trial jury that Miss de Scaffa, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, had supplied much information for Confidential's stories and came to New York several times to confer with publisher Robert Harrison.

"She told us she had access to practically every home in Hollywood, and an almost unlimited circle of friends, that she knew all the secrets and could get the stories we wanted," Rushmore said. He said she added, smilingly, she would get the material even if it involved affairs for her and male subjects.

This was the first lively testimony at the trial of Confidential, its sister publication, Whisper, and various individuals on charges they conspired to commit criminal libel.

New sensations appear likely because of a judge's ruling at the start of this, the fourth day of the case. Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker denied a motion by an attorney for actor Tab Hunter to be excused from testifying.

This apparently means that more than 100 subpoenaed witnesses may be called, including many stars who have been featured in Confidential and Whisper stories.

Rushmore said Miss de Scaffa telephoned a young starlet from New York "to get this star to give on the telephone information for a story that an attorney said was not clear." He said a recording was made of the conversation.

Another method of getting information for the magazine, said Rushmore, was equipping Miss de Scaffa with a wrist microphone leading to a recording device inside her coat.

Rushmore declared he warned Harrison about Miss de Scaffa's accuracy and later Confidential was sued for libel on a story she claimed she had eyewitnessed. Later, he said, she changed her story and said she wasn't there at all.

Miss de Scaffa recently has been living in Mexico. She now is married to a bullfighter.

Rushmore said Harrison dispatched him to Hollywood to seek out Miss Ronnie Quillan as a "potentially good source," after a story she had sold the magazine. Rushmore said Harrison described her as a "madam."

After contacting Miss Quinlan, Rushmore declared he told Harrison he "would not work with a woman like this," that she was highly dangerous and would get the magazine into trouble.

He also said Barney Ruditsky, identified as a former New York policeman and later Hollywood private detective, came to New York at Harrison's expense in the summer of 1955.

Rushmore offered this testimony: That Harrison showed Ruditsky galley proofs of a story of the famed wrong-door invasion by Joe DiMaggio; that Ruditsky recognized the source of the story as one of his staff and offered more information which was incorporated in the story.

Rushmore said Ruditsky offered to supply other stories on clients and former clients and reached an agreement with Harrison for $500 per story.

Rushmore said Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meade, defendants in this case, were sent from New York to Hollywood to set up "an organization known as Hollywood Research." Rushmore described it as "cover or front" for Confidential and told Harrison it wouldn't fool anyone.

Judges Join In War on Vice Here

Municipal court judges Friday pledged cooperation in the city's vice cleanup campaign by doubling and even tripling the penalties in such cases.

Effective Monday, Judge Luke Arnold said, persons convicted of playing lottery will face minimum punishment of a $105 fine and/or 60 days in the city prison farm.

This applies to first offenders who are in possession of a lottery ticket with only two or three numbers, Arnold said. He added those having tickets with six or more numbers will pay $205 or serve 60 days and 12 or more numbers $300 or 60 days.

SECOND OFFENDERS

Fines for second offenders will range up to $500 or 60 days, Arnold said.

Heretofore the minimum fine for playing lottery was $55.

Idlers will get equally rough treatment, Arnold warned. He said they will be sentenced to the prison farm for 30 to 60 days with no alternative of paying a fine.

In the past the minimum punishment for idling has been $15 or 15 days.

SUNDAY BOOTLEGGERS

Sunday bootleggers were promised a minimum fine of $200 or 60 days instead of the previous $100 minimum fine.

Persons found with more than a gallon of moonshine are bound over to criminal courts, Arnold pointed out. He said he was doubling the present $100 fine for persons convicted of possessing a gallon or less of illegal whisky.

Arnold said he prepared the new schedule for uniformity in minimum fines and because, "I think this is the best way to eliminate vice."

Comptroller Authorizes Investment Of $14.8 Million in Atlanta's Bonds

Immediate investment of $14,800,000 in city capital improvement bonds was authorized Friday by City Comptroller Earl Landers.

Landers returned Friday night from New York where the sale of $15,190,000 in Atlanta improvement bonds was completed by city officials.

The bond money that is not invested immediately will be held in reserve for starting future bond projects, Landers said.

City officials spent three days in New York completing the initial sale of Atlanta bonds. Landers, City Clerk Joe Richardson and Mayor Hartsfield signed approximately 58,000 bonds.

2 Asking Supreme Court To Review Lottery Case

Legal action has been started by Will Parks Clay of Macon and Mrs. Mattie Bell Anderson of Athens, Ga., to appeal their conviction on federal lottery charges to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals disclosed Friday that the defendants have applied for a writ to appeal following the circuit court's denial of their request for a rehearing.

Their conviction in U. S. District Court for Middle Georgia was affirmed by the circuit court June 29. Their request for a rehearing was denied Aug. 5.

Clay was convicted on three counts of an indictment. In one count he was charged with conspiring with Mrs. Anderson and others to evade payment of the federal wagering occupational tax and the federal excise tax on wagers.

Two other counts charged him with acting alone in trying to evade payment of such taxes.

Mrs. Anderson was convicted on the conspiracy count.

Clay asked that his conviction be reversed on grounds that evidence against him was obtained in violation of the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which guarantees rights of citizens.

Fulton Office Giving Way To Freeway

The Fulton County school system is "in the process" of moving out of its warehouse and office building at Woodward avenue and Pulliam street, SW.

Supt. Paul D. West said the building, built in 1938 as a gymnasium for Fulton High School, must be vacated by next Thursday because it is in the path of expressway construction.

Offices which are housed in the building will move to county schools, West explained. The music department will be temporarily set up at Josephine Wells Elementary School and the physical education department will move to College Street School.

Later they will move to new quarters in a proposed new maintenance building.

West said the system will have to vacate its present administration building at Central and Woodward avenues, SW, on Aug. 15, 1958, because that building is in the path of the Birmingham-Augusta superhighway.

The board is now negotiating with the county for a site on the old south camp prison property on Cleveland Ave., SW. The new building, estimtaed to cost about $350,000, would furnish offices for the library, lunchroom, vocational education, art and maintenance departments and will supply warehousing for the entire system.

Judge To Speak

Fulton Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk will appear next week on the program of the Blue Ridge Training Institute for Juvenile Court Judges, scheduled in Blue Ridge, N. C.

Judge Woolfolk will be one of two judges to discuss detention facilities for juveniles. Other subjects on the program will be juvenile courts in operation, institute and community teamwork, juvenile juries, juvenile court laws, behavior and health problems, lay support and public relations.

The judge will return to Atlanta next Thursday night.

Safety Panel Planned

The annual Fulton County School Safety Workshop is scheduled next Wednesday at College Park High School.

E. E. Baker, assistant director of attendance and transportation for the system, will preside over the workshop which is held primarily for school bus drivers. The program includes a panel discussion by school principals, safety officials and bus operators.

Validation Sought

Judge Durwood T. Pye had under consideration Friday Fulton County's request for validation of $1,050,000 in water revenue bonds to help finance a south Fulton water system.

The Superior Court judge held court on criminal cases most of the day and said he probably would pass on the validation petition Saturday.

Construction of some mains in the system has already been started with money from general county funds.

Prepare for School

Meetings in preparation for the opening of the fall term of Fulton County schools will begin at 11 a.m. Friday, Aug. 23, School Supt. Paul D. West said.

First meeting scheduled will be one for principals. It will be held in the board meeting room at the county administration building.

SEN. TALMADGE CUTS CAKE FROM ATLANTA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—Sen. Talmadge was congratulated in the Senate today on his 44th birthday and was feted by a delegation of his Georgia friends tonight in the old Supreme Court chamber of the Capitol tonight.

Democratic majority leader Johnson of Texas, and democratic whip Mansfield of Montana made speeches in the Senate congratulating Talmadge and praising his ability and his work as a freshman senator.

Headed by Judge Charles Bruce of the Fulton criminal court, and John Maloof of Atlanta, about 40 Georgians flew here to give Talmadge a buffet supper and the gift of a $1,500 savings bond.

This is an annual affair that Judge Bruce and Maloof started back in 1946.

It was originally planned to have it in Georgia again this year, but when Talmadge told his friends he then feared the Senate might be involved in a filibuster over the civil rights bill, they decided to come here to hold the party.

Both Talmadge and his senior colleague, Sen. Russell, had to leave temporarily a senate debate over a TVA bill to attend the celebration.

After expressing his deep appreciation for his friends' demonstration of loyalty, Talmadge graciously paid tribute to Sen. Russell, especially for the Georgia senior senator's helpfulness to him personally and for Russell's great leadership in getting the civil rights bill amended.

"I have seen lots of people in many parliamentary bodies", Talmade said, "but I don't believe I ever saw one man who commands the respect of his colleagues that Dick Russell does."

In turn, Russell told the Georgia group that "In my time no man has ever come into the Senate and taken over and handled so ably such difficult assignments, normally given to veterans, as Herman Talmadge has.

"I hope that Senator Talmadge, unless he is called to higher office, can serve the people of Georgia and the nation for 44 more years," Russell added.

"I know of no man in the United State Senate who has friends so devoted and loyal as he has. When a man is able to tie folks to him with such hoops of steel, it is truly a remarkable thing. I am proud that I am able to share with you the conviction that he is my friend."

Russell told the group that he had to call on Talmadge for valuable help many times in the fight against the civil rights bill.

Interest Rate Hike Aimed at Inflation

Raising of the discount rate Thursday at four Federal Reserve banks from 3 to 3½ per cent likely will be followed by similar action by the other eight banks in the system.

It means money will become tighter. That is the intent of the move.

The increase places the discount rate at the highest figure in about 25 years. It is aimed at inflation and the continued decline of the purchasing power of the dollar.

No one can argue with the intent. The constant rises in the cost of living are a problem with which every household must struggle. By making money more costly, the Federal Reserve hopes to relieve the pressures for more and more spending and reduce the too-rapid expansion of the economy.

But whether the policy of tight money will accomplish the desired result remains to be seen. Thus far it has not stopped the steady rise in living costs in which many other factors are involved. Continued wage and price increases and the heavy demand for consumer goods have not been checked. People have been accepting higher and higher interest rates as a matter of course.

The tight money policy has affected some groups in the economy much more than others. It has hurt small businesses and farmers. Banks and other lending agencies have been the chief beneficiaries. The Federal Reserve knows this but may be forced to take even more drastic action to slow down inflationary pressures and to stop the decline in value of the dollar.

The Federal Reserve System, of course, will receive considerable criticism for this latest move. Charges that it deliberately is encouraging deflation are true. But if it can slow down inflation without throwing the economy into a tailspin, the tight money policy will be more than justified.

Reds Play It Shrewdly In Middle East Strife

Soviet arms are going to Yemen, a feudal monarchy at the tip of the Arabian peninsula where until two years ago only the ruling family could have medical treatment.

Nowhere else on earth are people more abused and exploited than the wretched Arabs of Yemen. The weight of the ruling family has been pressed upon them without pity.

The immediate aim is to harass the British.

Yemen's rulers will be stupid enough to overthrow the British. In time this will create an army class which will overthrow the king. The already familiar pattern in the Middle East will be the further developed. The army chased the king out of Egypt. The army has overthrown three governments in Syria and now has one which is directed by the Russians.

There is no "kingdom" in that oil region too small for the Russians to assist. In the long run only they can gain. And the Kremlin must have real belly laughs every time it sees a stupid Arab king, who has exploited his own people, take the arms which in time will be turned upon him.

But it is not a humorous situation for the democracies. The future of the world well may be decided in the area which is now the focal point in the struggle with world communism.

Women of Statesboro Act To Protect Children

But in Statesboro early this summer a driver "under the influence" crashed through a barricade and hit a 6-year-old boy, injuring him severely.

The driver has been sentenced to a year in prison after a Bulloch County jury found him guilty on an "assault and battery" charge. Two other indictments stand against him—"driving under the influence" and "leaving the scene of an accident."

The Statesboro Junior Woman's Club was not willing to leave it like that.

The members drew up a resolution saying that in many drunk-driving cases the offenders did not lose their licenses, that the punishment had not been in keeping with the offense.

They sent a committee of three to the grand jury with the resolution demanding that something be done about flagrant violations of the drunk-driving laws.

The grand jury wrote a presentment in keeping with the resolution.

Editor Leodel Coleman said, "But the force which sent them was so compelling, courage had little to do with it. They were expresing the concern of all mothers for the safety of their children."

The editor said he was gratified that the grand jury listened.

But he knows, and so do we, that grand jury presentments alone won't clear the streets and roads of drunken drivers.

Only enforcement can do that. Enforcement backed by a militant public opinion made evident by more resolutions like the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club's.

Theater-Under-the-Stars Has Successful Season

Blessed by the weather and a succession of good shows, the Municipal Theater-Under-the-Stars at Chastain Memorial Amphitheater is having one of its best seasons. Although no count on attendance is available at present, in all likelihood more people will have enjoyed the productions this year than ever before.

The current hit, "Damn Yankees," is a box office success, as well it might be. It is a thoroughly professional job, as each of the season's hits have been. It also has the star of the New York show, on leave for the Atlanta production.

Audiences have been pleased with the improvement in the theater itself. The additional seats accommodate more people in greater comfort.

Atlantans owe a debt of gratitude to those who have struggled through the years to make the venture a success. Too much credit, for instance, cannot be given to Maurice B. Seltzer, who has given time, effort and considerable funds to its promotion. The City of Atlanta also deserves the thanks of every citizen for its fine contribution to community entertainment.

Congratulations are in order for the theater, its director and all those who have cooperated to make for a bigger, better outdoor entertainment season. When it ends next week with "Pajama Game," we are sure that thousands of Atlantans and others privileged to attend any of the productions will be happy to say, "Well done!"

Sen. Talmadge Praised On His 44th Birthday

Georgians will be pleased with the remarks by Sen. Lyndon Johnson in praise of Sen. Herman Talmadge on the occasion of his 44th birthday Friday.

The majority leader pointed out that Sen. Talmadge has made "a great impression on this body since he came here. He has served only a few months but he has already demonstrated that he is one of the most diligent and one of the best senators in the Senate."

The Georgian has been demonstrating keen ability and intelligence as a legislator. His arguments based on law and reason during the civil rights fight earned him a great deal of additional respect in the Senate chamber as well as in the eyes of people throughout the nation.

While the spotlight rightfully went to Sen. Russell for one of the most effective and skillful performances in Senate history in the rights battle, he had effective and able assistance from the junior senator. Georgians are, of course, proud that he is handling himself in such a way as to win respect of his colleagues and thus to make his influence more effective.

Cities Name Good Man As Successor to Arnold

Georgia cities had a good man in Zach Arnold, executive director of the Georgia Municipal Association, who died a few days ago.

They have chosen a worthy replacement to Mr. Arnold in Elmer George, city manager at Griffin.

The success Mr. George has had in handling municipal affairs in Griffin has made him outstanding among city managers.

Atlantan With 40 Years Building Experience Hits State's Awarding of Negotiated Contracts

Atlanta—On the editorial page of The Atlanta Constitution July 30 there appeared two items which I think were excellent and I wish to congratulate you upon these expressions of your opinion.

The first one appeared under the heading "Negotiated Contract Is the Tool of Politicians." This surely is true and I think that it is a crime for contracts for any public work to be awarded, except on competitive bids. This is based upon more than 40 years of experience in the building game.

The other was "Girls' Training School Justifies New Policy." I feel that you are absolutely right that the new policy, as indicated by the information given in your article, is a wonderful improvement over conditions that existed until recently, and that the general public should know and appreciate the good work that is being done by those responsible for the change in conditions, which has shown such wonderful improvement.

Do Not Keep Dogs Cooped Up, She Says

Atlanta—For a long, long time I have known that Ollie Reeves is wonderful.

As a dog lover I am much obliged to him for his poem August 2 in which he takes up so forcefully for dogs that are penned up in city quarters entirely too small for them.

Humane teaching stresses that if one can't keep a dog comfortable with some degree of freedom, don't keep him at all. The dog must have freedom to save his health and living cooped up likely hurts his mind.

Real Target of NAACP Called Social Privilege

Atlanta—Are you keeping up with the so-called battle of civil rights in Congress? Well, it is not civil rights that the NAACP is trying to get that will bring sizzling strife in Dixie—but social privileges, its key target .

I am wondering what that rather small bunch of highly intelligent spirits among the colored people are saying of this general scramble for social privileges.

INTERESTED.

'J. R. Chapman Left Imprint on Georgians'

Atlanta—J. Roy Chapman, who died recently in Atlanta, left his imprint upon thousands of Georgians and many others over the land. Quiet and unassuming, he was always cheerful and pleasant in his dealings with the public. He was a member of the staff of the Georgia Dept. of Mines, Mining and Geology and he often served as a guide and interpreter in the State Museum in the Capitol. He was president of the Georgia Mineral Society in 1953-54 and served as secretary of that organization for eight years.

He explored the caves of Georgia and other states and was a past president of the Atlanta Chapter (Emory Grotto) of the National Speleological Society.

The Georgia Mineral Society recently honored him with Life Membership.

His gentle, friendly enthusiasm for the works of nature inspired hundreds to follow suit. He will be sorely missed.

In the Jackson Progress-Argus

Today's teen-ager, beset on the one hand by carping critics and on the other by group adulation and his own inflated ego, justifiably becomes confused in his thinking and outlook on life.

His personality evolving from a mass of seeming contradictions, he is striving to accomplish the impossible by being true to himself, loyal to his parents and popular with the crowd.

It is a difficult time. But the problems are not insurmountable. Others have accomplished the transition from child-to-adulthood successfully.

The opportunities for this age group are great. But the dangers are even greater. Bad habits begun now can be ruinous, bad reputations gained now can be stumbling blocks that only the strongest can overcome.

With the hindsight that only an adult can have, what advice would you give these children standing on the brink of maturity who are just preparing themselves for the serious business of living?

With apologies to those whose love and understanding helped me through this difficult period and who will recognize as purely fictional the advice given below, if I were 16 again, I believe I would set up for myself a certain code and live by it if humanly possible:

I would establish a working relationship with God, realizing that there would be many difficult situation. in which I would be powerless to work out my own solution.

I would find an adult friend in whom I could confide, be he parent, pastor, neighbor or acquaintance.

I would be true to myself, trying at all times to truthfully analyze my personality, character and behavior.

I would be loyal to my parents, obeying their commands, respecting their wishes and appreciating their sacrifices. I would try daily to lighten their load by acts of consideration that would prove my gratitude for their love.

I would cultivate friends whose ideals paralleled mine and whose virtues outnumbered mine, feeling that such associations would improve my mind, strengthen my character and add new meaning to my life.

I would ponder thoughtfully the question of what I wanted to do with my life. But I would remember also that a man is the sum total of all his thoughts and actions, thus being conscious that what I do and think today will have a great influence on what I will be 10 years from now.

I would spend a few minutes daily in reflection. I would become familiar with great books, inspiring poems, the Bible, and other works of art that would improve my mind and broaden my horizons.

I would seek truth and, to be true, I would value idealism.

If They'd Only Heat the Syrup

The hot cakes-hot syrup issue arose again. This time in a Douglas restaurant. "The syrup, I'd like it hot, too." I said. "But it's not cold," the waitress said. "It's not been in the refrigerator. I just poured it out of the can myself."

"I know," I said. "But I'll take the hot cakes only if I get the syrup hot."

She weakened. "Well, I guess I could put it in a pan of warm water," she said.

"You could pour a little out in a stew pan and put it on the stove," I suggested.

"I could," she said.

She did. She brought the syrup hot. She apologized. "There's not much," she said. "I hope it will be enough."

I asked if I were the first ever to ask for hot syrup. She said I was.

Some day there'll be more. Some day the menu will read "Hot Cakes-Hot Syrup." When it does, the order will sell like—well, like hot cakes.

His Name Echoes In Halls of Eternity

Yesterday I said that Christianity is Christ and that many of the wonderful things we call Christian—the church, the heritage and tradition of 2,000 years, the Christian pattern of life, the fellowship of believers—have little meaning except in terms of our primary devotion to Christ. Without faith in Christ, none of these aspects of Christianity would be known to us.

Why is Christ central to Christianity? First, Christ is the highest and holiest expression of God. He is the Word made flesh. He is God Incarnate in the human form. Christ is the revealing of the Father and in none other is the nature and mind of God more perfectly known to us. All Christian faith and theology is based on this truth.

Second, Christ is the divine example of how men who love God should shape their lives, dedicate their wills, discipline their minds. We do not say, "Follow the example of Socrates or St. Francis of Assisi or Shakespeare."

Only Christ is worthy to be imitated. He is the Way, the Truth and the Life. He is our Shepherd, Master, Lord and Guide. He is the Door, the Light and the Life.

He said, "I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done" (John 13:15).

Third, Christ is our Saviour and Redeemer. He alone has the power to forgive our sins.

Do you not understand why the Church of Christ always has been centered in Christ, why His Cross stands on the altar and why worship, praise and prayer are offered in His name? Whatever else Christianity is, it is primarily adoration of and obedience to Christ. All else is secondary. All else is born of our love for Him and our desire to do as He has commanded.

George Morrison, a great Scottish minister, somewhere tells of a large building in Florence, Italy. Six hundred years ago it was a palace. In the palace was a chapel and on one wall of this room of prayer was a picture of Dante.

But, with the passing of time, the use of the palace was changed. What had been a magnificent dwelling became an asylum for criminals. When the building housed prisoners the walls of the chapel were whitewashed and the splendid portrait of Dante was obscured. Then, in the middle of the 19th century, an Englishman, perhaps having gleaned from some ancient record the story of the painting, rediscovered the original portrait. Beneath the stains and dust of time, beneath the whitewash was found something that gave an uncommon beauty to the common walls of that building.

The passing centuries have done much to obscure the image of God in the face of Christ Jesus. But when we push aside the clutter of time we can always find Him who is the stimulus and inspiration of the church. When we find Him our lives are renewed, our churches reinvigorated and our society challenged.

Right-To-Vote Bill Must Not Be Killed

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower and the Republican leadership will, it seems to me, be making a grievous mistake if they try to kill the right-to-vote bill. The polite theory of some of the more politically minded Republicans is that to smother this bill to death now on the ground that it doesn't go far enough and then to return to the fight to get one that goes farther next year would be better.

Better for whom?

Better for the Negroes who aren't being allowed to vote? Or better for the Republican politicians who want to win elections with the support of Negroes already allowed to vote?

If the White House and the Republican leaders want to make possible a genuine advance in protecting the right of all citizens to vote on equal terms, they will accept the amended legislation as a good beginning.

If the White House and the Republican leaders just want to shoot off political Roman candles and make a great show of indignation that the Democrats watered down the bill, they will maneuver to suffocate it.

To some it must look like "smart politics" for the Republicans to stomp this bill to bits in conference over the House and Senate versions in order to show how much better the bill would have been if there had been more Republicans in the Senate.

But when you are dealing with the precious right of Americans to vote, "smart" politics isn't good politics, isn't good government, isn't responsible government.

This is the first right-to-vote legislation which has won a majority vote in the Senate in more than 80 years.

It was debated honestly and constructively. It was argued without filibuster and was brought to a vote without filibuster.

Of course the bill could be stronger. But what help to Negroes wanting to vote would there be in a stronger bill which wasn't passed?

This legislation gives the federal government new and untried powers to protect the right to vote. Should these new powers be thrown away?

These new powers may not be all many would like in behalf of the right to vote, but they will do a lot more than no powers plus a speculation that a better bill might just happen to come into being in 1958.

I don't mean the administration should not protest—and protest as hard as it wants—that the provision for jury trial in all kind of criminal contempt is unwise and should be removed.

What I am saying is that all this Republican-inspired talk about the merit of getting the bill killed in order to try again next year is just too cute, too politically scheming, to be allowed to happen.

Congress Sabotages President's Program

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is coming toward the end of the first session of Congress in his second term with but a faint echo, in the way of legislative accomplishment, of the overwhelming personal endorsement he got in his re-election last November. Although he hailed that victory as a triumph of "modern Republicanism," it has not been translated into legislation in the field of social and economic welfare.

Aside from what may be salvaged in his civil rights bill, if anything, Congress will come to its recess in the next three or four weeks without action on numerous legislative recommendations that he made to Congress last January in his state-of-the-Union and budget messages. Among these was his proposal for federal aid for school construction. That finally did get to the floor of the House several days ago. There it met the same fate—defeat—which it encountered in the 84th Congress. All the President could offer was a promise to ask for another bill next session.

Other measures he urged in January in the flush of his landslide electoral victory never reached the floor.

These include extension and improvement of the unemployment insurance system embodied in the Social Security Act of the first Roosevelt term; extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act, enacted in the second Roosevelt term, to include more workers; federal aid to expand and improve voluntary health associations, with which President Eisenhower has had no more luck than did President Truman with his comprehensive plan for federal health insurance, of which the Eisenhower health plan is a much-diluted derivative.

The President's lack of success with his welfare program cannot be explained away by merely pointing to the fact that Congress is under control of the opposition party, as it has been for more than half of the time he has been in the White House. For more Democrats than Republicans vote for such measures when they get to the floor. They are supported by "modern Republicans," but these are in the minority in Congress.

The real truth is that on such measures, outside of civil rights, President Eisenhower is up against the same dilemma that Harry Truman endured most of the time in the White House. This is the coalition of Southern Democrats and "regular" or "unmodern" Republicans. That creates a major party on its own that can bottle up social welfare measures.

So obvious has President Eisenhower's ill success with this Congress become that it is now being widely commented upon.

It was only natural that the subject should be raised eventually with the President himself, as it was at his latest news conference this week.

He was frank in conceding that somewhere along the line he has not done so well with his program encountering difficulties in Congress. This is being attributed by some to his failure to utilize to the fullest all the power at the command of a president. This includes threats of various kinds, such as withholding of patronage and of support for pet projects of members of Congress, and denial of suppport in contests for election or re-election.

POLICE NEW LOOK—Two patrol women went on duty in Atlanta Friday for the first time. Police Chief Herbert Jenkins is shown swearing in Mrs. Alene Mitchell and Mrs. Hilda Hill. They were assigned to walking beats in the downtown section. Jenkins said if they prove successful others may be employed. They were instructed to check ladies' lounges and similar places where male patrolmen are barred.

Padlockings Cleaned Up Liquor, Williams Says

Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams declared Friday that his recent crackdown on liquor dealers has brought about "the cleanest operation since the adoption of the Alcohol Control Act."

He announced that the last five retailers who had remained padlocked have been allowed to reopen.

In all, 112 retailers and all 34 wholesalers were closed for varying periods during Williams' crackdown.

The commissioner said he had talked with each of the wholesalers and all but three or four of the retailers before allowing reopenings.

In each conference, he said, he discussed the firm's specific violations as well as the general liquor problem in Georgia.

Williams has said that the main reasons for the padlocking orders have been cases of selling on credit, illegally cutting prices, giving away sales "gimmicks" and other pricing regulation violations.

As a result of the crackdown, he said, "It's going to be better for the people and better for the industry."

Shortnin' Bread Ban Gags Nelson Eddy

TV is slicin' "Shortnin' Bread" too thin for Nelson Eddy.

The handsome singer was asked to perform his favorite song on the Bob Crosby show during the CBS telecast Friday. But Eddy told host Crosby that he understood the song was among those now listed as taboo on TV and radio.

The matter came up when Crosby asked Eddy what song was his all-time favorite. Eddy named "Shortenin' Bread." Crosby said: "Give me about half a loaf," meaning he wanted Eddy to sing the song. Eddy then said he was under the impression the song had been banned along with "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Swanee River."

Lottery Squad Investigates 810 Cases

The Metropolitan Lottery Squad has conducted 810 lottery investigations during the one month the group has been in existence, Police Lt. William Cox, squad chief, reported.

Since July 10, Cox said, his agents have arrested 29 persons and booked a total of 31 cases. Only 10 of the cases involved lottery charges, Cox said, with the remaining 21 including an assortment of offenses.

In a report to the special squad's board of directors, Cox described a single lottery investigation as the checking out of any particular information regarding possible bug operations.

Cox also outlined some of the operational tactics utilized by his "bug-killers," who were banded together for the purpose of eradicating the "bug-blight" in the Atlanta area.

One of the squad's most important reference sources, he said, is a list of some 200 persons who were arrested and bound over on lottery charges in 1956.

Cox told the directors he also has a list of 30 "known or suspected lottery bankers."

3 Youths Held For Jury in Fake Holdup

Three 18-year-olds Friday were ordered held for the Fulton County grand jury in connection with what police said was a faked robbery report at a service station where one of them worked.

Bill Haley of 148 Memorial Dr., SE, was held on charges of larceny after trust, records showed. Two others, Tommy Randall Munday of 673 McDonald St., SE, and Alvin Lee Alford of 138 Powell St., SE, were held on charges of larceny.

All three were placed under $500 bonds after waiving preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Alton L. Hawk.

Detectives O. L. Adams and J. H. Barnes said a robbery was reported June 22 by Haley, who was employed at a service station at Memorial drive and Cameron St., SE. They added Haley later admitted he planned the fake robbery with Munday and Alford and shared with them in the $250 loot.

Doctors Find Swasey Suffered Brain Injuries

Bill Swasey, WSB-TV announcer, suffered extensive brain injuries in an automobile wreck Monday, examination at Loudoun County Hospital, Leesburg, Va., revealed Friday.

The hospital reported that he was still in critical condition and still unconscious.

Swasey was injured near Lucketts, Va., Monday. He was on his way to New York to meet his wife and twin daughters who had been visiting relatives there.

DeMolay Hears Griffin Aide Laud Its War on Delinquency

The 1957 state convention of Georgia DeMolays began in Atlanta Friday. Some 200 Georgia DeMolay members are attending the three-day meeting.

Highlighting Friday's events were speeches welcoming the group to Atlanta, an afternoon parade and an evening stunt night and informal dance.

Tony Scarratt of Austell, state master councilor, presided over the general session Friday morning. Committees were named to nominate new officers and decide on a time and place for next year's convention.

A revised constitution will be presented later for approval of the delegates, it was announced.

Tom Gregory, executive secretary to Gov. Griffin, gave an address welcoming delegates to Atlanta and praising the DeMolay organization for efforts in combating juvenile deliquency.

A look at DeMolay, said Gregory, makes one feel teen-agers in general may be getting a "raw deal" because of a few bad youngsters.

Events scheduled for Saturday morning include committee reports and election of officers. The new officers will be installed Sunday. DeMolay is sponsored by Masons for boys between the ages of 14 and 20.

Reds Sentence Rebel

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 9 (AP)—Lajos Janoki has been sentenced to three years in prison for blowing up a Soviet armored car with a hand grenade during last fall's revolt. He was also fined about $22.

IN ATLANTA CHURCHES: Preaching Runs in King Family

By KAY MCLEOD

And rightly so, reckons the Rev. George O. King, pastor of East Point's First Methodist Church.

For he is the fifth generation in a direct line of Kings who have served as Methodist preachers in north Georgia. "It all began back before 1800," relates the Rev. Mr. King "when a man by the name of King moved from South Carolina to what is now Hall County, Ga. There being no more free land available, he drove the Indians out of the forks of the Chestatee and Chattahoochee Rivers and built a 16-by-16-foot log meeting house and called it King's Chapel."

JOINED METHODISTS

It wasn't until some years later that this first preacher King asked the Methodist Church to take over the little church. The Methodist Church did and turned right back around and ordained Stephen O. King a Methodist minister, thus initiating the long line from which East Point's King descends.

In 1820, relates the Rev. Mr. King, the church was moved across the river and became Antioch. "The first man buried in the cemetery was my great-great-grandfather."

No. 2 was Ebenezer King, born Jan. 25, 1819. He became a "local preacher" and had three sons who became Methodist preachers. One of these was George T. King, a Confederate soldier who was admitted to the North Georgia Conference after the war.

Coming closer to the East Point King, on Aug. 14, 1870 Olin King was born to George T. He was destined to become a preacher and was admitted to the conference in 1901.

IN OLD TRADITION

His son is George O. King, named for his father and grandfather, born in April 1907. Joining the conference in November, 1923, the Rev. Mr. King is carrying on the King preaching tradition at East Point after having served churches in White Plains, Dahlonega, Mt. Zion, Atlanta, Cartersville and Milledgeville.

"So far as I know I am the only fifth generation preacher in the North Georgia Conference," comments the Rev. Mr. King.

Was there any pressure involved in his choosing the ministry?

"No," he says, "I had a very distinct call. I just couldn't have done any other job. My father died before I went into the ministry."

It looks like George King may be the last in the line of preachers in the family, for a while at least. For his son, Olin D. King, is a research engineer with the Army guided missile project in Huntsville and his daughter is married to an Army man.

"My sister, Mrs. C. W. Green of Thomaston, has two sons in the ministry, however," says the Rev. Mr. King. "She says her family is carrying on the tradition."

Mission Schools

The annual mission schools for the women of the North and South Georgia Methodist conferences will be held Aug. 19-23.

The South Georgia school will be held at Wesleyan College at Macon and the North Georgia women will gather at Emory.

Discussion topics include: "Japan," "The Gospel of Mark," "The Social Witness of the Local Church," "Parliamentary Procedures," and "Techniques for Group Discussion and Action on Current Issues."

Delegates to Denver

Two young people from north Georgia are among 225 youth leaders who will attend the National Conference of Methodist Youth Aug. 17-23 at the University of Denver in Colorado.

They are Miss Pat Herring, 571 Pharr Rd., NE, and Robert Thomason, Emory student from Dalton.

Tenor to Sing Here

John Druary of the New York City Opera Co., will make a special appearance here Sunday.

Druary, a tenor, will be the guest soloist at the dedication services of the Westminster Presbyterian Church camp near Lithonia at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The organ on which Druary will be accompanied was a gift to the camp in memory of the singer's late father-in-law, Hugh F. Dickson. The organ will also be dedicated during the service.

Druary's selections will include "Come Ye Blessed" by Scott, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, and Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

The 114-acre Westminster camp, a $25,000 Tabernacle and a bell tower, memorial to Charles B. Matheny, will be dedicated during the service.

$325,000 Building

Decatur Presbyterian Church has begun construction on a $325,000 educational building.

The building, to be called the McGeachy Building in honor of a former pastor, Dr. D. P. McGeachy, will replace an old building of the same name.

The planning committee of the church has studied the program and needs of the congregation for more than two years. The 120-year-old church has 2,100 members and 1,850 in the Sunday school.

The building is scheduled for completion in about 10 months. The Rev. J. Davison Philips is pastor.

Fast Day Changed

The traditional Roman Catholic fasting day on the vigil of the Feast of the Assumption (Aug. 14) has been moved to the vigil of the Immaculate Conception (Dec. 7).

The Catholic Chancery Office of the Diocese of Atlanta this week announced the change has been approved by Pope Pius XII upon the request of bishops from many parts of the world.

The feast of the Assumption falls on Aug. 15 and celebrates the Catholic belief that the Virgin Mary was taken into heaven, body and soul, after her death.

'Christian Dating'

Young people of the Peachtree Road Methodist Church will gather at a special series of services next week to discuss "Christian Dating."

The third annual Youth Activities Week of the young people entering ninth and tenth grades in school will be directed by the Rev. William Landiss, associate pastor of Glenn Memorial Methodist Church.

During the same week, the 11th and 12th graders will gather each evening to discuss "How the Bible Speaks to You on Dating, Marriage, Home, Church, Community, Morality." Mrs. Arthur J. Moore will be the guest speaker.

Revival at Sharon

Sharon Baptist Church will hold a week of revival services beginning this Sunday. Dr. William G. Studer, pastor, will speak at 8 p.m. daily on the theme "Christ Is the Victory."

Luther League Rally

Three young people of Peachtree Road Lutheran Church will attend the 62nd annual international convention of the Luther League in Lawrence, Kan., beginning Monday.

They are Ann Lau, Maryann Renz and Charles Thomas. Representatives of the youth of the Lutheran Church throughout the world will attend the six-day meeting which precedes the Lutheran World Federation Assembly which meets the following week in Minneapolis.

Catholic Women

The first annual meeting of the newly formed Atlanta Diocesan Council of Catholic Women will be held in September, it was announced here this week.

Mrs. George J. Gunning, who has been named to serve as general chairman of the meeting, said that a definite day and place will be announced later.

Mrs. L. N. Chappell Jr. is now serving as president of the council. The new council is being formed to direct the work of the women of the Diocese of Atlanta.

Juveniles Held Here Up 25 Pct.

Fulton Juvenile Court had a 25 per cent increase in the number of children kept in its detention facilities during the first six months of this year, Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk reported Friday.

Figures released by the judge showed that detention facilities were overcrowded 60 days in the first six months of this year.

OVERCROWDING

Overcrowding of detention facilities was one of the main factors cited by court officials behind the need for a new court building and detention home. The building is among the nine and one-half-million dollar county bond projects now being planned by a building committee.

The number of "child-days" recorded for detention—representing each day that every child spent in detention—increased over last year, 10,274 to 8,196.

Judge Woolfolk said the court is "using detention more as a facility to change and modify attitudes." He said there also had been an increase in the type of crimes that require longer detention for delinquents.

The figures on delinquency for the first six months reflect increases in burglaries, up to 248 over 169 for this period last year; stealing of all types, to 360 over 318; ungovernables, to 79 over 68 and weapon violations, 26 compared to 10 last year.

CRIMES OF VIOLENCE

Total delinquency cases for the period were 1,960, compared to 1,248 for the first half of 1956. The judge emphasized, however, that 741 of the cases represented in the increase were traffic cases that the court is handling on a larger scale this year.

There were 321 neglect and custody cases.

The 16-year-old age group leads all others in deliquency, figures show. The court handled 956 16-year-olds, 330 at age 15, 281 at 14, 152 at 13, 98 at 12, 56 at 11, 35 at 10, 26 at 9, 13 at 8, 7 at 7, 3 at 6 and 3 at 4 and below.

City Offering Quick Jumper A 192-Mile Job

A program to double the 192 miles of painted center lines on city streets will be launched as soon as a painter willing to undertake the "hazardous" job can be found.

"We've got two line-painting machines and only one operator," Karl Bevins, city traffic engineer, said Friday. "Consequently, we've fallen several weeks behind in our line-painting program."

Center lines are dabbed on streets by an operator riding a tricycle painter that is nudged along about 15 feet in front of a city truck, Bevins explained.

"The job becomes a bit hazardous when motorists pass the trucks and whip back in front too sharply," Bevins said.

4 Georgians Will Lead At Junaluska

Four Georgia Methodist leaders are scheduled to speak at the Southeastern Jurisdictional Laymen's Conference at Lake Junaluska, N.C., which opens Friday.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta will deliver the morning worship sermon Aug. 18.

Dr. James W. Sells of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council, will lead a discussion on "Local Church Leadership."

W. E. Bostwick, of Arlington, South Georgia Conference lay leader, will speak on "Methodist Men" at work in the church.

"Ministerial Enlistment and Training" will be the subject of a talk by Robert F. Whitaker of Emory University.

Lay leaders from the 16 conferences of the jurisdiction will join in a program which also includes a session on lay speaking and public relations, stewardship and finance.

Dr. Charles R. Clegg of Young Harris, North Georgia Conference lay leader, is program chairman for the conference.

Tech, Georgia 'Chutists To Vie

A parachute jumping contest between Georgia Tech and University of Georgia students will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Bellah Airfield at Stockbridge.

The students are members of Southern Skydivers, an organization affiliated with the Parachute Club of America. Director of the group is Darrell F. Branstetter who will be one of five men on a United States team competing in an international parachuting competition at Tivat, Yugoslavia Aug. 18-25.

Glubb, in England, Hears He's in Oman

LONDON, Aug. 9 (UP)—Radio Moscow said today that Lt. Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb, former British commander of the Jordan Arab Legion, is commander of British forces in Oman. The general was amused.

"It is amazing how I travel," Glubb said at his country home in Mayfield, Sussex. "I can hardly believe I am here."

Car Hits Boy, 9, At Street Where Twin Was Struck

The intersection at Ashby street and Lucille avenue, SW, has proved a jinx to the Tankersley twins.

Carlie Tankersley, 9, of 965 Cummingham Pl., SW, was hit by a car there Friday. Two weeks ago Carlie's twin, Charlie, was hit by a car in exactly the same spot.

Carlie was admitted to Grady Hospital with a cerebral concussion, police said. His condition was listed as "fair." His twin escaped with injury to the foot and bruises, according to Patrolmen T. J. Roberts and L. F. Harris, who answered both calls.

They added no charges have been brought against Mrs. Susie A. Perkins, 52, of College Park, driver of the car which struck Carlie.

The twin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tankersley.

HEALTH-WAYS:

The Dawn of a New Day

The CAUSE of Health is within the body. Life works from inside. Life-giving power flows from the brain to the body through the vast and intricate nerve system. This human electric-power keeps organs performing in a marvelous manner. Interfere with it, disturb it, shut it off by short circuits and any kind of ailment may develop.

All healing comes from within. All repair, all restoration comes from inside the body.' Common practice has led many people to believe that something from outside the body will heal it. Outside agents may be used for the benefit of the body but Life-wisdom within determines if it is good or bad for the body. How does Nature heal?

The answer is simple. Understanding of the answer comes slowly when one is willing to understand it. Life does not reveal her secrets to the mind filled with prejudice, the "know-it-all" attitude. Many of those who are thoroughly trained to know disease and its remedies are apt to overlook the underlying CAUSE of good health.

The science of Chiropractic stands firm in its position that turning on the "Life-Giving" nerve currents in the body brings the dawn of a new day to those who suffer bodily weakness and disease.

Cracker Bat Boy

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9—When Earl Mann retires as president of the Atlanta Crackers, he won't have to search any farther than his living room for a successor. His 15-year-old son, Oreon, should be ready to step right into his father's large shoes.

Oreon has literally grown up in the dugout, and he'll be familiar with every phase of the game when he moves into the front office. For the past few years, Oreon has served as bat boy for the Crackers, and he's already a good judge of baseball talent and a diplomat.

Outlar

When he was asked to name his favorite Cracker, Oreon looked around at Bob Montag, Sammy Taylor, Frank DiPrima and others sitting near him in the hotel lobby and said, "The entire team. I couldn't pick one."

Oreon says he'd like to become baseball's first playing president. He's an infielder, but unless he shows vast improvement, future Cracker managers won't be confronted with the problem of managing the president.

The younger Mann is a veteran traveler in the Southern Association, and New Orleans is his favorite stop. An oyster bar down the street from the hotel is the major reason he prefers the Crescent City. Memphis ranks a close second. Joe Engel won't like it, but Oreon puts Chattanooga at the bottom of his personal standings.

When the Crackers are on the road, Oreon leads the league in movies. He tied ex-Cracker Don McMahon's cinema record by seeing four in Birmingham one day when the game was rained out.

—You Can't Beat the Movies and a Game a Day

Oreon has served as bat boy for five Cracker managers, and he's fond of all of them. But Clyde King rates an edge over the others, because he taught the younger Mann quite a bit of baseball. In addition, King took him to the movies.

His daily routine is similar to the ball players. He sleeps until around 10 a.m., has breakfast, then goes window shopping and attends a movie. After another light meal, he reports to the park. He eats again after the game and then turns in around 1 a.m. Every day's a big one.

Such a schedule could easily spoil a youngster, but Oreon is one of the finest kids you'd care to meet. He is well mannered, and takes a lot of needling from the players without a whimper.

Sometimes racking bats can be a dangerous profession, as Oreon discovered last summer at Poncey, when he was struck in the face by a flying bat which slipped out of Bob Boring's hand. He suffered a slight concussion but was okay after a few days in the hospital.

Observing players and managers from the dugout and listening to his father in the front office is valuable training for the future.

"I've been at the ball park ever since I can remember," he says, "and I want to run the club when I grow up. I plan to go to college, then start working in the office."

—There's a Baseball Club in His Future

Earl Mann also grew up at Poncey, but he didn't have a choice seat from the dugout. He started out as a peanut vendor and climbed the ladder to the top in Horatio Alger fashion. His son will be able to start at the top.

The Cracker bat boy is as interested in the Southern race as Manager Buddy Bates and the players. He keeps close check on the other clubs by reading the papers.

"This has been about the finest race I remember," he says. "I still think we'll win the pennant, but Nashville is going to be hard to catch."

Speaking of Nashville, Oreon and his father have different views about Sulphur Dell. Earl can't stand the sight of the Dell, and he hasn't witnessed a game there in some time. Oreon rates the Dell right behind Poncey.

It's a lot of fun to watch the outfielders playing the bank in the Dell," Oreon explained. "You can't see that brand of baseball anywhere else." He's certainly right about that.

Cracker vice president Jasper Donaldson keeps an eye on Oreon on the road, which is an easy job. "I wish sports writers didn't cause me any more trouble than Oreon," Donaldson says. "He minds his own business all the time."

The Crackers will someday be his business, and he's a cinch to graduate from bat boy to president.

Conerly Fires Giants, 22-12

75,000 Watch Brodie, Barnes, Cothren Keep All-Stars Close

By TED SMITS

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Chuck Conerly passed the New York Giants to a 22-12 victory over the College All-Stars tonight before a damp crowd of nearly 75,000 in Soldier Field.

John Brodie of Stanford almost matched Conerly's passing skill and Billy Ray Barnes of Wake Forest wiggled his way through the Giant offense to keep the game in suspense almost to the end.

Barnes scored the All-Star touchdown and Paige Cothren of Mississippi kicked two field goals and narrowly missed a third.

Conerly passed for both of the Giant touchdowns, but Ben Agajanian added the spectacular touch with his two field goals for the New York team. He kicked one from 33 yards away in the first period and another from 45 in the fourth.

Rain fell off and on throughout the game.

The Giants triumph in the 24th annual game made it 15 victories for professional teams against seven for the Collegians with two ties. Proceeds of the game, the first of the 1957 season, go to the Chicago Tribune Charities.

The Giants, the National League champions of 1956, were 10-point favorites. In the end it was their superior team play that tipped the balance despite the performances of Brodie, Barnes, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, Jim Brown of Syracuse and Jon Arnett of Southern California.

The All-Stars surprised by scoring at the very start of the game after Alex Webster of the Giants fumbled and Wayne Bock of Illinois recovered on the All-Star 45.

Barnes carried over from the 2 after Brodie passed to Ron Kramer of Michigan for 10 and to Arnett for 11. Abe Woodson of Illinois scampered around left end for 18 to highlight the drive.

The Giants' first score came at the end of the first period when Agajanian kicked a field goal from 33 yards away. Barnes presented the Giants with the opportunity when he fumbled and Charley Toogood recovered on the All-Star 25.

The Giants showed the real power of their offense in the second period. With the ageless Conerly at quarterback, the NFL champions moved 88 yards in only five plays. One of these was a 33-yard pass from Conerly to Alex Webster. On the fifth and

Baggage Car Workouts Slated For Patterson

Patterson and his entourage will be on the rails for some 30 hours and en route the champion will work out in a baggage car in hopes of melting off some of the five pounds he has gained since he stopped Hurricane Jackson in 10 rounds at the Polo Grounds on July 29.

Although Rademacher has been fighting as an amateur for almost a decade and is the 1956 Olympic heavyweight champion, he will be making his pro debut against Patterson.

Nottebart Zeroes Pels On Three Blows, 8-0

Meeks Spurs 13-Hit Burst As Crackers Ignore 'Bertha'

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Editor

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9—Dandy Don Nottebart, the finest rookie pitcher to wear an Atlanta uniform in several seasons, muzzled New Orleans on three hits Friday night as the revived Crackers romped to an 8-0 success.

In waving the whitewash brush for the sixth time this season, Nottebart chalked his 15th triumph and extended the Crackers' victory skein to five straight.

A Pelican Stadium crowd of 4,000 freeloaders — Holsum Sunbeam Bakery bought out the park and opened the doors to the public—braved threatening weather to sit in on the show. A backlash from hurricane Bertha drenched the field, and the track was muddy.

Only three Pelican runners got to second and none to third as Nottebart reeled off the third shutout by a Cracker hurler in four games. He walked five, struck out four and all three of the Pel safeties were harmless singles.

Though Nottebart was the star of the show, he was the only Cracker who didn't share in a 13-hit flogging of loser Walt Kellner and Don Brady.

The Crackers adjusted their slugging sights with a run in the second. Bob Montag, who had walked and moved to third on Bill Reynolds' single, streaked home on Sammy Taylor's infield out. Taylor topped a ball in front of the plate, and when Moe Thacker fired to first, Montag set sail for home. He beat the return peg in a photo finish.

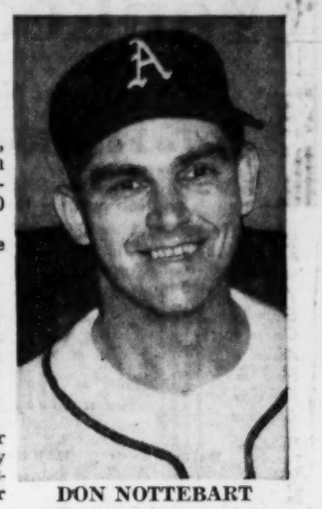

Sammy Meeks, continuing to swing a heavy club, unloaded a solo homer in the fourth, and three more Cracker runs went on the road in the fifth.

Nottebart and Ev Joyner wrapped walks around Dick Phillips' single to jam the bases with one down in the big inning. Frank DiPrima then rammed a run-making single. Phillips, who moved to third on the hit, scored as Joe Morgan tapped into a force at second, and Joyner came in when Jack Caro, trying for a double play, overthrew first.

Kellner was pecked for another surplus score in the seventh when Joyner collected an infield hit, DiPrima walked and Meeks rifled a scoring single.

Reynolds rapped Brady for a two-run single in the ninth to conclude scoring. Morgan had belted a one-out single and Montag had doubled to set up the RBIs for "Ace."

The Pels never mustered a serious threat against Nottebart. Buddy Carter's single in the fourth was the first New Orleans hit. They didn't get another until Russ Snyder singled in the sixth. Cob Jarvis collected the other hit in the ninth.

Ken MacKenzie (10-5) goes for Atlanta against Dick Klinesmith (10-9) Saturday night in the second of the four-game set here.

CRACKER DIARY: General manager Vince Rizzo says the Pels have only a 50-50 chance of moving into City Park Stadium next season. Residents in the park area are opposing the shift, and there's considerable opposition from prep coaches. . . . During the Cracker victory binge, Sammy Meeks has stroked at a 9-for-21 clip for a .429 average. . . . Pilot Peanuts Lowery calls ex-Cracker Jack Caro the stick-out of the Pel infield. Caro's still swinging a weak stick, but ranks with the loop's better-fielding shortstops.

Billy Reynolds has a six-game hitting skein working. . . . Don Nottebart's six shutouts are the most by a Cracker hurler since Art Fowler served up the same number in 1953. . . . Pelicans receive $1,500 monthly as a rental fee from the used car operator who does business in their front yard. . . . Southern Association Pres. Charlie Hurth will announce a ruling on Mobile's protest of the Cracker victory Aug. 6 Saturday morning.

'Bama's Roland Signed by A's For Pocatello

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9 (AP)—A left-handed University of Alabama pitcher has been signed by the Kansas City Athletics for duty with Pocatello, Idaho, of the Pioneer League. He will report immediately.

He is Frank Roland, 21, of Memphis, Tenn., who has just returned from a tour of the Orient with the Alabama baseball team, sponsored by the Armed Forces.

In his three-year college career Roland won 21 games and lost only one, the best record in Alabama's history. He pitched 191 innings of college baseball, struck out 136, walked 57, allowed 128 hits and did not make a wild pitch.

Snead Adds 69 to Opening 65 To Hold Lead in Tam World

Balding Trails By Two Strokes

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—With the instinct of an old fire horse when the alarm sounds, perked-up Sam Snead, 45, showed his heels to the awed younger pros today with a second round 69 and a sizzling halfway total of 134 to maintain his lead in golf's biggest money stampede.

The sweet swinger finished his chore in a light rain at Tam O'Shanter and rushed to the press room where he gulped down a bottle of pop.

His 134 represented 10 strokes under par and wheeled him farther ahead in the field of 100 pros prospecting for the game's richest reward — $50,000 in cash and a $50,000 exhibition contract.

The "World" championship winds up 72 holes of pressure shooting Sunday.

After blasting par 72 with 65 in yesterday's opening round on the 6,915-yard acreage, Snead opened the second round with three straight birdies.

He holed a 12-foot putt for three on the first hole, reached the long second in two shots for a cinch four and planted a No. 6 iron two feet from the pin on the 16-yard third.

After overshooting the next to take a five, he rolled in an 11-foot putt for another birdie on the fifth. His only three-putt green came on the eighth and cost him bogey 4. He finished the front side in two-under 34.

On the 475-yard 10th, Snead stuck a four-iron second shot 3 feet from the cup and dropped the putt for eagle 3. He missed, then overshot, the next two greens for successive bogies, but on the 515-yard 15th, got in two for a simple birdie 4.

He parred the rest of the way for a closing 35.

Louise Suggs, runner-up in the tourney in 1953 and 1954, today took the second round lead of championship for women pros with a 4-under-par 148.

Suggs Heads Women on 148

Creed of Opelousas, La., increased her lead to six strokes with a 78 for 159. Sandra Clifford of Mexico City and Lois Drafke of Chicago were next with 165.

Miss Suggs, eighth on the women's winning list with $6,953, took a two-stroke margin after 36 holes in the chase for the $6,000 top prize.

34-35—69 for 136 and second place at the halfway mark. His card featured an eagle 3 on the 475-yard 10th hole, where he rammed a No. 4 iron second shot 12 feet from the flag and dropped the putt.

Rounding out the other sections of the "world" championships:

Men Amateurs—Defending champion Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo, N.Y., shot his second 72 for 144 and a one-stroke edge over Howard Everitt, Northfield, N.J., whose 70 was the amateur's best second round.

Braves Drub Cards, 13-2, Up Lead to 3½

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9 (AP)—Milwaukee streaked to the biggest lead in the National League this season—3½ games — as Bob Buhl, backed by an 18-hit cannonading, subdued the second-place St. Louis Cardinals 13-2 tonight.

Bob Buhl

It was Buhl's fifth victory in a row and the Braves' fifth straight success.

Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews, Wes Covington and rookie Bob Hazle all homered as the Braves buried their nearest challenger.

Wrist-hitting Aaron .334, took over the National League batting lead with 2-for-5 and tied Stan Musial, .332 of the Cards for the RBI leadership with 87.

Mathews knocked in two runs as did Buhl, now 15-6.

All-in-all the Braves pounded out 10 extra-base hits, four home runs, five doubles and a triple. The 19 Milwaukee hits went for 37 bases.

Lindy McDaniel was kayoed after two and one-third innings.

In that short stint he was roughed up for six runs and seven hits, five of them extra-base blows.

It was the hardest the 21-year-old McDaniel has been hit this year. He is now 9-7.

Akins Stops Hart in 8th

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 (AP)—Veteran Virgil Akins knocked down young Sugar Hart with an overhand right in the seventh round, and stopped the dazed welterweight at 49 seconds of the eighth round tonight. Both fighters weighed 148 pounds for the scheduled 10-rounder at Cleveland's Public Hall.

Akins, a 29-year-old St. Louis slugger with a vicious right hand, was staggered himself in the fifth round, when Hart landed a right to the head and two left uppercuts. But the veteran Akins waded back and fought the youngster on even terms in the sixth.

Porter Held in Plate Shooting

PONCA CITY, Okla., Aug. 9 (AP)—A Ponca City hotel porter, apparently angry over being struck in a "rough-house" today was charged with assault with intent to murder after he fired six shots at a group of baseball players here last night.

J. C. Dunn, manager of the Ardmore team of the Class D Sooner State League, was wounded in the leg and chest by two of the six shots from a .38 caliber revolver. Hospital attendants said today Dunn was not in serious condition.

Charged with the ball park shooting was James Johnson, about 32.

Officers said the shots apparently were fired at Coy Smith, one of three Ardmore players involved earlier in what was described as good-natured "rough-housing" with the porter. Police said tempers flared during the melee and Johnson was struck on the jaw. He was suspended from his job by the manager of the hotel where he worked.

The shooting came in the second inning of last night's Ardmore-Ponca City game just as Dunn crossed home plate. As soon as the shooting began, Smith headed in full flight for centerfield. The game was postponed.

Johnson, 32-year-old hotel porter, was charged with assault with intent to commit murder after J. C. Dunn, manager of the visiting Ardmore Club, was shot in the leg and chest.

Orioles Trim Yankees, 4-3

Loss Cuts New York's Lead To Four; Nieman Has 4 RBI

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9 (AP)—Bob Nieman snapped out of a slump tonight with a home run and two doubles as he drove in all the runs for the Baltimore Orioles in a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

The loss, third straight and fourth in their last five games, left the Yanks four games ahead of second-place Chicago in the American League standings.

Nieman slugged his 10th homer in the fourth off loser Whitey Ford and hit a base-clearing double in the sixth following singles by Billy Gardner and Bob Boyd and a walk to George Kell.

Farmer 'Ploughs' Rose Bowl, Plans Foray on Grant Field

Injury Sidelines Jim Boardman

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

The North All-Stars have found themselves a running horse that wasn't even supposed to be on the track.

That's how Coach Doc Ayers felt about it after his "Yankees" went through their first scrimmage of the year Friday morning at Rose Bowl field.

Bob Farmer, 5-10, 185-pound terror from Elberton High, ran like a wounded bull from the fullback spot that he wouldn't have occupied had not Rossville's Charlie Benefield decided to pass up next Thursday night's All-Star game in favor of playing in a similar game at Chattanooga, Tenn.

The fireplugglsh Farmer was the runningest agent in the park as the North squad knocked heads for the first time and lost at least one outstanding player via the injury route.

Jimmy Boardman, Northside's fleet end who has been the most outstanding blocker on the squad, suffered an injured back when he blocked Cedartown guard Don Edge and is definitely lost for the game. Edge suffered an injured knee on the same play and is a doubtful starter.

The running of Farmer, Brown High's Floyd Cadenhead and Carrollton's swift Jimmy Morrow highlighted the skull-cracking session. The blocking of tackles Phil Ashe of Stone Mountain and Ed Nutting of Northside—they weigh 220 and 230—and guards R. L. Lamb and Frank Albert of Murphy and Marist also was of spectacular order.

Three players emerged as highly outstanding defensively — Druid Hills' guard Tommy Najour, Rockdale County tackle Norman Hammonds and Griffin end Bobby Bailey.

Willie McGaughey, Lanier High's great center, was lost to the South. An ankle injury he sustained in the Thursday scrimmage indulged in by West Thomas' Rebel forces has sidelined him for the game. He probably will be replaced from a list that includes Jesup's Albert Howard, Valdosta's Mike White, Blackshear's Robert Leckie, Patterson's Bascom Raulerson and Glennville's Wayne Kicklighter.

Ashe, Najour, Cadenhead Star

Boardman will be replaced from a list that includes Jack Logan of Ellijay, Warren Beck of Rabun County, Louis Harberson of Thomson, Pen Craven of South Habersham, Bo Orr of Morgan County, Clayton Baker of Avondale, Franklin Grubbs of Monticello, Joe Anderson of Rockmart, Jimmy Summerour of Milton and Joe Abney of Pepperell.

ALL-STAR DUST—Coach Thomas figures his three quarterbacks — Robert Johnson of Valdosta, Coley Cassedy of Statesboro and Charlie Rose of Jesup—are almost on a par. But he does know one halfback who's going to play a lot of offensive ball in the GHSA-Journal clash at Grant Field Thursday night. Ben Smith, squat Valdosta speedster, seems to be not only the most eager, but perhaps the most dangerous running back in camp. "He comes to play, and we've used him at several spots," grins a pleased Thomas. . . . Ayers won't say for sure, but he's decided to go with Morgan County's Snooks Saye and Athens' Francis Tarkenton at offensive quarterback. West Fulton's Marvin Tibbetts and Marist's Larry Jolluck will be at righthalf, Gainesville's Tommy Paris at lefthalf. "Man, that Tibbetts is great; he can play anywhere," admires Ayers. "He really runs well at righthalf." Paris has been by far the most outstanding punter on either team thus far in drills. Tibbetts and Tarkenton probably will handle some North punting chores. Cairo's Bobby Walden and Commercial's left-footed end, Billy Phillips, have the inside track to do the toe work for the South.

South Carolina's Weems Baskin and Clemson's Covington (Goat) McMillan were on hand to "protect their interests." Each college has several boys under scholarship and is interested in several others. . . . Georgia's Red Lawson wires that, reports to the contrary, "Pat Casey of Benedictine is Georgia-bound on basketball grant-in-aid." . . . Jerry Weaver and Jimmy Vincent, QB and FB at Cedartown—both will be seniors this season—are acting as managers for the North squad. "I've learned one thing," quips a perspiring Weaver. "I'll never complain to a manager again. This is work."

Glenn Cassell, cage sage of Vienna who'll coach the South in Wednesday night's All-Star basketball game at Alexander Memorial Coliseum, has decided that 6-3 Pat Casey, originally a center, is too good to leave out of the starting line-up. He'll play forward, with Richmond Academy's 6-7 Wayne Richards at center. Edison's Bobby Dews and Baker's Gordon Darrah will probably start at guard, although Vienna's Jack Mixon will see much action. Two busloads of fans will be up from Vienna to watch Mixon. Lanier's W. L. Sheppard or Glynn Academy's Bill Ploeger will start at the other forward. . . . Decatur's Charlie Hall, whose starting North team will average 6-4 in height, is complaining that four of his other players are only 5-10. Wonder if he ever heard of Ralph Beard, one-time Kentucky All-American. He was 5-10.

Goryland Fodge Combine To Halt Vols' March, 3-2

Johnny Goryl started and ended Memphis' scoring Friday night and in between Glen Fodge produced a six-hitter that halted Nashville, 3-2, and reduced the Vols Southern Assn lead to 2½ games over the second place Atlanta Crackers.

Goryl homered in the first and lined one off the fence in the ninth that scored Fodge with the winning run. Gip Dickens' sixth-inning homer had produced the other Chick run.

AISA Opens Dixieland Title Defense With Five New Marks

EAC Leads Women's Meet

By RALPH GREGORY

Defending champions in Avondale's Dixieland Swimming Championship proved Friday one way to stay ahead is beat the record book.

The men's titleholding team, Atlanta Indepedent Swim Assn., and women's champions from Emory Aquatic Club combined for half of the 12 pool records which fell in Friday's first round and as a result were well on their way to their second titles in the two-year-old meet.

AISA broke five of the dozen marks which fell during an all-day session of qualifying and finals in 36 events. Several of the marks which tumbled during the qualifying heats were lowered again during the night finals.

Thirty-six more events are scheduled Saturday to decide the titles in ten age groups. Qualifying for the final day begins at 9 a.m., with finals slated Saturday afternoon.

AISA piled up 47 points during the Friday session, winning the men's relay and 100-yard breast stroke and placing second in two other events. Emory did even better with firsts, taking the 400-yard medley relay and first in three other individual events. However, AISA placed three teams in the relay to pile up its substantial margin over second-place Atomic City Aquatic Club, which had 24 points.

Individually Kappy Williams of Emory's team and Juergen Matt, swimming unattached from Tullahoma, Tenn., jumped ahead in the competition for the Carol Burton Memorial award to the meet's outstanding swimmer. Williams won three events—women's 100-yard freestyle, girls', 13 and 14, 100-yard freestyle, and the girls', 13 and 14, individual medley. She shattered the old girls' 100-yard freestyle record of 1:10.4, lowering it to 1:04.8.

36 Events Slated Today

Matt placed first in the men's 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard freestyle, setting a new record in the freestyle with a 55.3 time.

AISA's five records were set by Harrison Merril in the boys' 13 and 14, 100-yard freestyle at 58.5; by the medley relay team at 4:21.8; by the boys', 13 and 14, 200-yard medley relay team; by Billy Helms in the boys', 11 and 12, 50-yard breast stroke and the boys', 11 and 12, relay team.

Other records were broken by Albany Swim Team's Ed Cannon in the boys', 9 and 10, 25-yard freestyle and by Anne Perry in the same event for girls. Carolyn Tabb of Flying Fish broke the girls', 11 and 12, 50-yard breast stroke mark twice, lowering it to 40.2 in the trials and another fraction to 40.1 in the finals.

Ansley Golf Club's 13 and 14 girls 200-yard medley relay team clipped eight seconds off the record in winning that event with a time of 2:00.8.

Flying Fish, 11 and 12 girls' relay team, set a new record during qualifying for the 200 medley with a 2:26.9 time.

last Conerly passed to Ken MacAfee who caught the ball on the All-Star's 25 and ran the rest of the way for the touchdown. The play was good for 38 yards.

The All-Stars came back strongly even after the Giants took a 10-6 lead in the second period. The Collegians swept from their 15 to the Giants' 7 in 10 plays. Again it was Brodie who provided the spark. He passed to Woodson for 17 yards and to Arnett for 16.

Then with the ball on the Giant 21, Brodie ran with the ball when he was unable to get off a pass and was hurt on the play. Paul Hornung of Notre Dame took his place and ran to the 9 for a first down. Paige Cothren of Mississippi kicked a field goal from the 7.

A ruling that Clarence Peaks of Michigan State interfered with one of Conerly's passes intended for Frank Gifford paved the way for the Giants' touchdown in the third period. This gave the ball to the Giants on the All-Stars' 15 and Conerly promptly passed to Ken MacAfee who was all alone in the end zone.

Redlegs Rally Twice Over Cooled Cubs

CINCINNATI, Aug. 9 (AP) — A four-run uprising on five hits in the eighth inning carried Cincinnati's Redlegs to a 6-4 victory over Chicago's Cubs tonight in the nightcap, completing a double-header sweep.

The Reds outslugged the Cubs in the opener for a 9-7 triumph.

In both cases, the Reds had to swarm from behind twice before nailing down the decision.

WRESTLER ZAHARIAS FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

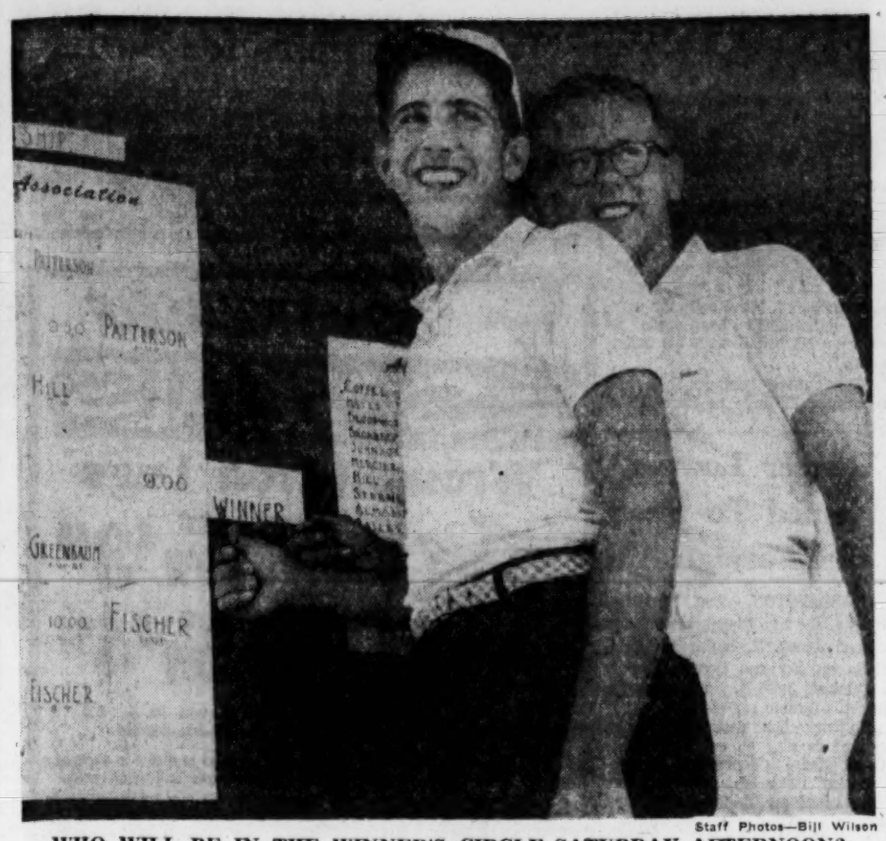

SAVANNAH, Aug. 9 (AP)—Babe Zaharias, 250-pound wrestler, was found dead in a hotel today and police said there were indications he had suffered a heart attack.

He listed his home address on the hotel registry as Pueblo, Colo.

Zaharias engaged in a wrestling match here last night with Bibber McCoy, and went to his room in the hotel shortly afterwards. McCoy told police that Zaharias complained of pains in his chest and under his arms after they left the ring.

A hotel bellboy saw Zaharias get out of bed about 8 a.m. today. Friends became curious over his failure to join them later and asked the hotel to investigate.

The 42-year-old Zaharias was a brother of George Zaharias, promoter, former wrestler and husband of the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

WHO WILL BE IN THE WINNER'S CIRCLE SATURDAY AFTERNOON?
Buddies Don Patterson (L), Dennis Fischer Vie for Junior Golf Crown at Capital City

Patterson, Fischer Meet for City Title

Decatur Mates Turn Foes For Junior Golf Finals

By BERT PRATHER

Decatur High and Druid Hills Golf Club teammates, Don Patterson and Dennis Fischer, cast themselves i nthe unfamiliar role of foes when they squeezed out identical 1-up victories in semifinals of 1957 City Junior Championship Friday at Capital City Country Club.

They will square off in the 18-hole championship tussle promptly at 9 a.m. Saturday morning with Don, the pre-tournament favorite, still rated the same in this encounter with his Decatur pal.

Patterson, who reached the finals of this tournament three years ago only to lose to Bobby Pierce, won his second ticket into the payoff round with a hard-earned triumph over 15-year-old Charlie Hill of the host club. Fischer's victory over last year's runner-up, Jerry Greenbaum of Standard Club, was even more gruelling.

Dennis had to sink a 25-foot birdie putt on the last hole to win. Patterson had taken a 1-up lead on the 17th and had only to match Hill's bogey four on the 18th to protect his advantage.

Both matches followed practically the same pattern. Neither Patterson nor Fischer was ever down. Biggest margin either enjoyed was 2-up and both fell back even with their foes on the 16th hole. Greenbaum caught Fischer at 16 when Dennis had to take a ditch penalty.

But young Charlie quickly gave it back to Don on No. 17. He pushed his tee shot in the adjoining fairway, knocked his approach over into the hollow on 18 and then sailed it over coming back. He conceded to Don, who was on in two. So the string ran out with those two fours on the next hole.

Patterson was out in 36 and back in 38 for a 74. Hill had 38-38—76. Don held a 2-up bulge at the turn and went three up when Charlie knocked it out-of-bounds on No. 10.

Fischer grabbed a 1-up lead on the very first hole when Greenbaum took a bogey five. It was 2-up Fischer when Greenbaum was two above regulation on No. 3. Jerry's deuce at six was quickly nullified by his bogey five on No. 7. However, he trimmed it to one at nine with a great eagle three. Dennis' bird was no good here.

Birdies at 10 and 12 pushed Fischer's lead to 3-up before Greenbaum squared it by taking 13, 14 and 16. It was beginning to look like another great comeback such as he pulled in that 21-hole match against Richard Tatum Thursday until Dennis knocked in that long one on 18.

Greenbaum had a medal of 40-35—75 and Fischer 39-35—74.

FIRST FLIGHT—Tommy Bloodworth beat Dennis Mercier, 5 and 4; Hokey Almand beat David DeBra, 4 and 3.
Final Results: SECOND FLIGHT—Gene Morris beat Tommy Eldridge, 4 and 3. THIRD FLIGHT—Bill Malone beat Ronnie Straughan, 21 holes. FOURTH FLIGHT—Tommy Harmon beat George Belkofer, 5 and 4. FIFTH FLIGHT—George Harmon beat Ray Abernathy, 2-up.
Saturday's starting times: 9 a.m., Patterson vs. Fischer; 9:10, Bloodworth vs. Almand.

Canton Tops Athens For State Pony Title

Herb Priest Hurls Champs To Second Straight Crown

Special to The Constitution

MARIETTA, Aug.. 9—Canton's. defending. pony League champions rode the southpaw pitching of Herb Priest to another state title here Friday night, defeating Athens, 9-0.

Priest, getting an 11-hit attack and flawless fielding from his mates, stopped Athens on three hits, fanning nine and walking only one.

Three Canton home runs accounted for four of the winner's runs. Weldon Mauldin homered in the sixth with one on and Eddie Fowler and Bud Roberson hit solo blasts in the second and sixth innings. Canton pushed across seven runs in the sixth.

Mauldin and Joe Satterfield had three RBI apiece.

An estimated 1,800 saw Friday's finals at Heck Memorial Field, bringing attendance totals for the five-day tournament to about 8,000.

Bill Umstaedter Wins In Crackerland Play

Evelyn Cowan Gains Semi-Finals; Ansley Claims Boys' Title

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 9—Ageless Bill Umstaedter, four times men's Crackerland champ, moved inexorably toward a fifth crown here Friday by trouncing young Harry Thompson of Atlanta, 6-1, 6-1, to tie down a semi-finals berth.

Umstaedter, National Boys' champion before Atlantan Thompson was born, paid not the slightest heed to his years as he controlled play most continually throughout the match. With superb skill and the canniness of experience, Umstaedter kept Thompson on the run, but when he had to the war horse revived up and cavorted like a colt.

Immediately after his victory, Umstaedter left by plane for the postponed finals in a Charlotte, N.C., tournament. He will return to Athens Sunday, when he is scheduled to meet the winner of a match between Bob Nichols, of Georgia Tech and Atlanta, and Tommy Robinson, an LSU varsity man from Baton Rouge.

In other men's singles play, Harvey Jackson, Washington, Ga., outlasted Dan Magill of Athens, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0, for a semi-finals berth. He will play the winner between Ens. Bob Riley, Athens, Navy, and Air Force Lt. Col. Tom Bonner, Dobbins AFB.

Triple Trouble At Peach Bowl

Smith's official entry, received by promoters Alf Knight and Ted Chester Friday, called for all three of his Chevrolets to compete in the hardtop battle. Smith will drive one and the other two will be manned by drivers to be selected next week.

Billy Carden, another Atlanta driver, and Bill Amick were also added to the official entry list. First entry was Lee Petty of Randleman, North Carolina.

Lake Worth, Knoxville Post LL Wins

Special to The Constitution

ROME, Aug. 9 — Lake Worth, Fla., and Knoxville, Tenn., battled to the finals of the division III, South, Little League baseball finals here Friday at the expense of Greenville, N.C.'s representative and the host Georgians from Athens.

Lake Worth had to go into an extra inning before disposing of the Tar Heels, 9-7. The Tennesseans pounced on three Georgia errors for two runs on a 2-1 victory.

Connally Takes Playground Title

The Connally Playgrounds nine won the bantam (10 and under) baseball championship of Atlanta Friday as lefthander Kim King turned back Adams Park, 7-0, at Piedmont. The tournament was sponsored by the city recreational department.

Tommie Sharon pitched well for the losers but a cluster of errors in two innings was his undoing. Both teams will receive cups.

Atlanta Netters Fall in National

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 9—The last of the Atlanta aces were eliminated from the National Jaycee tennis tournament here Friday. Ned Neely and Bill Hardcastle bowed in the junior doubles semi-finals to Ray Senowski and Gerald Dubie, of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-0, 6-1. Mike Neely and Speed Howell fell in the boys doubles to Buster Siska and Dennis Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-4, 6-2.

AABF Play Resumes Today

Welcome All's defending champions, who will tangle with Local 10 at 2 p.m. have held tournament foes scoreless for 24 consecutive innings and allowed only one run and nine hits in three previous tournament games.

Jackson Loan, which will mix it with East Atlanta at 4, won the city meet in 1954 and 1955 and finished second a year ago.

A Sunday double-header, which will pit the two Saturday's losers in the first game at 2 p.m., also will be played at Poncey. The second game will send the lone unbeaten team into the finals.

It was only the second victory as a Giant for Crone, who came to New York with a 3-1 record in the Red Schoendienst deal with Milwaukee June 15. Crone now is 5-6.

The Giants rapped 10 hits, collecting eight in the first three frames as they scored three in the first and three in the third off Roberts, who has won eight. Ray Jablonski had three Giant hits. Hank Sauer hit his 17th home run, a two-run job and his third in three games.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers snapped a three-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight.

BEAR RUG AND ELK ANTLERS FORM A THOUSAND PICTURES

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

The other morning the expressman brought a crate from Wyoming. Inside the box were two items—a black bear rug and a set of elk antlers, mounted to make a hunter's hat rack. I spent a long half hour unpacking and laying them out to look at again. They were a couple of trophies I got last fall in the high country under the shadow of the Continental Divide.

Charles Elliott

There wasn't anything too exciting about either of those kills I made. I met the black bear on a forest trail. We stopped and must have stared at one another for a quarter of a minute before I decided that I had just the right spot for him in my trophy room.

The elk was a meat bull with five points (in the western states, they designate the points on one side only—here he would have been a 10-point bull). For two weeks I had hunted around the rim of Yellow Creek in the Absaroka Range, and had passed up some massive six-pointers because I didn't see one I thought would classify as a record head.

So it wasn't the kills I thought about when I pried that crate apart, but the Wyoming high country in the fall. Our own southern Appalachians have a beauty that is delicate and soft and appealing. The mountains of western Wyoming take away your breath by their soaring, tremendous grandeur. They don't roll gently down a long skyline. They fill the sky—stark, immense and so incredible that you have to keep looking to believe.

In those trophies I can see towering canyon walls, with white water streaking through them, twilighted parks close to timberline, wrapped so tight in silence that not even the spruce boughs dare whisper. The elk come to those meadows at twilight, and the valleys ring with their bugling. Not another sound of the wilderness is as stirring or as full of wild melody as this evening paean of the lofty, desolated meadows, when an old bull elk rings his challenge to his world.

I see the winding trails, through long-bodied trees of pine and spruce and fir. This high country lying in the Shoshone and Teton Forests on both sides of the divide, has been declared a wilderness area with such civilized disfigurements as roads, sawmills and human establishments barred. The only way to get into it is by walking, or a long ride by horseback up one of the picturesque trails. Your habitation is a tent and your bed a sleeping bag. The trails are the only man-made links between the camps. Ride them when the wind is blowing and you hear the timber talk. The voices of the trees are very much like human sounds, and when you are alone, you keep expecting to meet someone at every turn of the trail.

I see the high country above timberline, above where the forest trees can grow. Grass grows there in patches, and the herds of elk graze it in the summer months before snow flies and cold winds drive them into the timber again. There are icy streams, born out of glaciers which hang in many of the clefts and on the shady sides of the mountains all summer long. The air is thin and sweet and pure and every time you take a breath, you feel it clean your lungs.

Those trophies are more than a rug on the floor and a hatrack on the wall. They are a thousand pictures of another world, far above and beyond the dust and din we have to endure every working day.

Glenn Turner Turns Pro As Golfer

Glenn Turner

Always keenly interested in the links game, Glenn has taken a part-time job in the shop of Meadowbrooks Country Club pro Dempsey Wright. He has returned to school and works at his golf job in the afternoon and weekends.

Friday night pros Wright and Turner were busy supervising what is believed to be Atlanta's first moonlight golf tournament. Play was over a four-hole route marked by Chinese lanterns. Players were allowed only three clubs (any three) and were given luminous golf balls with which to compete in this novel affair. Approximately 50 participated. — PRATHER.

SOUTHERN WATER SKIING

Alabama Lass Makes Junior Triple Slam

The trim youngster was a walkaway winner in all three events and gave notice that she fully intends to sucessfully defend her national titles later this month in San Diego, Calif.

Easily recognized by her flaming pony tail, the talented youngster swept to a first in girls' slalom with two perfect runs over the course; scored 566 points in the trick riding tests and then made the day complete with a jump of 56 feet in the final event of the division.

In the junior boys division, Roger Ray of Cypress Gardens, Fla., took both events in near perfect form. The 16-year-old high school student, who is also a part of the water show at Cypress, scored a first in the slalom and a first in the trick riding.

On the fourth and final run of the course, he picked up 13 points against 12 for Tommy Daly of West Palm Beach, Fla., who finished second.

His performance in the trick riding was far out of reach of his nearest competitor as the winner scored 961 points to 587 posted by Bill Wilkinson of West Palm Beach, who finished second.

Bagley Takes Peach Victory

Bagley won it, though, with Dukes second, Ralph Carr third and Frank Waites fourth. Four wrecks slowed the 25-lap feature and caused numerous restarts.

First Heat (8 laps): Joe Rutherford, Brown Siddon, R. M. Johnson; Second—J. R. Cohran, Dink Carter, Calvin Bagley; Third—Tommy Wharton, Ace Cannon, Andy Buffington; Fourth—Hobby—6 laps, R. L. Lee, Bud Bailey, Tommy Collins.

House Is Re-Grouping To Battle Over Rights

to go along with this when the bill got back to the House floor, the Senate likely would concur and the bill would be sent to the White House.

The Celler compromise would restrict the Senate's jury trial amendment to criminal contempt cases involving voting rights only. The Senate amendment covers all criminal contempt cases.

Celler's proposal also would confine jury trial guarantees to federal district courts. This was designed to meet Republican arguments that the Senate amendment might require the U.S. Supreme Court and appeallate courts to impanel juries.

For this strategy to succeed, however, Rayburn and Celler would first have to get enough Republicans and Southern Democratic members of the Rules committee to agree to it.

Meanwhile, House Minority Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts and Rep. Keating, ranking GOP member of the Rules Committee, were insisting that the bill go to a Senate-House conference for deletion of the entire jury trial amendment.

Celler blasted them for taking that position.

"The Republicans apparently are fiddling around with this matter, and they're placing the right of the Negro to vote on the altar of Republican politics," he said.

"Because of this maneuvering they run the risk of no bill at all. The bill passed by the Senate with some amendments would be agreeable because, for the first time, Congress has recognized the right of the Negro to vote.

"It is a beginning on which we can build in the future. Republicans are making it a political issue."

Rep. Keating had a conference with Vice President Nixon, who said when the jury trial amendment was adopted that it was "one of the saddest days in the history of the Senate."

GOP national chairman Meade Alcorn was reportedly putting on the pressure for the Republicans to stand firm against House approval of a jury trial proviso.

"DEFEAT PURPOSE"

And Rep. Martin charged the Senate's jury trial amendment would "defeat the purpose of the President to assure the voting rights of all Americans."

The GOP minority leader also pointed to a statement by acting Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers that the effect of the amendment would be "to hamper not only the enforcement of the civil rights bill itself but also to make it much more difficult to enforce federal law and policy in other vital areas involving the public interest."

One Southern Democrat, who did not want his name used, said he hoped his Dixie colleagues would go along with the Senate bill on the grounds that they might face a tougher one next year.

FORRESTER'S VOICE

But Rep. E. L. (Tic) Forrester of Georgia's Third District voiced the sentiment of most Southerners when he said:

"We can't live with this bill as it is, even though it is much better than in its original form. We can't let the federal government come down and police our elections.

"I just simply can't agree that the attorney general should have the power to send the FBI down into my state for months, snooping around and investigating every sort of complaint against my people who are charged with the handling of electoral processes, and after secret investigation taking them into court on such unequal terms.

"The taxpayers of the United States will be furnishing the alleged complainants all of their legal counsel and witnesses, and my people would be furnished only such legal assistance as their pocketbook would afford.

"In short, the federal government has nothing to do with our elections in Georgia, and I will never agree that it has."

Senate Votes More Pay for Disabled Vets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Senate needed only a few minutes tonight to approve increases of about 170 million dollars a year for some two million veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee explained the veterans' increase briefly and then it rolled through on a shout of approval.

The measure now goes back to the House for consideration of minor Senate amendments. The House approved it unanimously May 13.

Byrd explained that the bill boosts monthly disability payments for most disabled veterans and those who now get allowances for dependents.

Dio Payoff Bared at Union Quiz

$396,000 Asked By 3, Says Prober

Prodded to say just how friendly Hoffa and Dio were, Heaton said, "Well, that's a matter of degree."

But the witness said he had seen Hoffa and Dio together at labor conventions.

SAYS NO MORE

Questioners, try as they might, could get him to go no further than agree with them that Hoffa and Dio were more than speaking acquaintances.

Chairman McClellan (D - Ark) and other members of the committee are digging for evidence, in advance of Hoffa's appearance as a witness, to buttress their contention that there is a corrupt alliance between Hoffa and Dio.

Dio himself shed no light on this. He claimed the privilege against self-incrimination yesterday when asked whether he knew Hoffa. He claimed it 139 other times.

Heaton, who is 48 but looks much older, testified that as president of the United Auto Workers he raised no objection to paying Dio $16,000 for getting out of the union.

Heaton said Dio demanded $10,000 as his price for quitting the union, but that he upped the ante to $16,000 and received that amount.

DORIA TO TESTIFY

Heaton testified Dio claimed he was entitled to the money for repayment of funds Dio had put into the union. Heaton added that he was told by Doria, that Dio had put up at least that much, and maybe more, of his own money.

Doria who, judging from Heaton's testimony, knew much more of what went on in the union than Heaton did, is scheduled to be a witness before the committee.

Kennedy said Dio provided vouchers showing only a little over $5,000 was due him, rather than the $16,000 he was paid.

MUNDT SPEAKS OUT

At one point during the questioning of Heaton concerning the relationship between Hoffa and Dio, Sen. Mundt interjected: "I hope if Jimmy Hoffa runs for president of the Teamsters that he doesn't have Johnny Dio as his campaign manager. That wouldn't be good—or maybe it would. I don't know."

Heaton related under questioning that he did not personally check into allegations of his predecessor as Auto Workers president, Lester Washburn, that Dio was a gangster who ought to be thrown out of the union.

NEA Asking 'Flexibility' In Teaching

Atlanta school principals are among 16,000 in the United States scheduled to receive a 72-page booklet which warns that rigid educational formulas must be modified if schools are to keep abreast of rapid technological advances.

The booklet is "The Flexible School," which is being distributed to principals throughout the country by the Department of Elementary School Principals of the National Education Assn.

"The function of education is no longer merely to transmit the culture of one generation to another," the booklet contends. "To serve a society in which change is a constant factor, our schools need to be flexible. They need to be keyed to change."

While schools must keep pace with technological advances and changes in living habits, the booklet says, they are confronted with this dilemma:

"They cannot safely range very far from the credos, taboos and timidities of the communities they serve. Here, too, the solution lies in flexibility . . . of leadership, personnel, tools and Curriculum."

Brooklyn artist while, the government said, he collected atomic and military data for transmission to Moscow.

In past arrests of Soviet nationals, the Russian Embassy in Washington has been quick to spring to their defense. However, Abel went ahead with his own plans to get a lawyer.

The Soviet intelligence officer was flown here from Texas yesterday. He had been held in a detention camp there since June as an illegal alien awaiting deportation. The spy charges were lodged against him after a Russian agent reportedly defected to the West and revealed the ring's existence.

Denver Lawyer Named To Head U.S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP) — President Eisenhower today named James H. Smith Jr., Coloradio rancher and Denver lawyer, to succeed John B. Hollister as the nation's foreign aid director.

Hollister has resigned but he agreed to stay on as head of the International Cooperation Administration until his successor has been approved by the Senate and has taken office.

WHEEL-WATCHER — Phillip Green's interest is caught by the paddle wheel constructed by youths at a session of the YMCA South Bend day camp for boys. Youngsters built a dam in the creek to build up pressure to operate the wheel they constructed as a camp project, a popular activity for campers.

POW-WOW—Indian lore was a feature during the six weeks of camp, attended each day by between 50 and 70 youngsters from the Atlanta area. Ronny Miner and Lee Blackstone hold a pow-wow in one of several teepees campers fashioned of used parachutes. Decorating teepees with designs of their own creation was an attention-holder. Arts and crafts periods added to the excitement of living as atomic-age Indians.

This marks the third year the YMCA has sponsored South Bend day camp sessions, one of 15 such camps operated by the Atlanta YMCA. J. A. Walls, principal of the Gilbert Elementary School has served as camp director each year.

Teen-Terms Vital Student Declares

Teen-agers have a language of their own—and they're proud of it. Many students who wrote The Constitution this week believe adults who fail to dig teen-terms are "3-D squares." Others maintain teen-agers can hold their own with any adult in the vocabulary department.

The winning letter was written by Atlantan James Wade, 17, a student at St. Joseph's Prep School, Bardstown, Ky.:

. . . Teen-agers as a group are utilizing and developing an exclusive argot in their conversation. It is logical that the teen-ager has a definite right to and a deep need of this form of colloquialism: The teen-ager belongs to a distinct social group claiming its own customs and mannerisms, entertainment, taboos and styles. The teen-ager desires this mark of individuality. It gives the average guy or gal a sense of conformity and belonging, a means of expressing themselves to their friends.

Teen-talk is a unique and vital force . . . a product of our age . . . choosing and blending elements from all types of jargon, especially that of jazz musicians.

This language . . . is new, different, an integral part of teenism. . . . For all its growing pains, it is an essential part of our modern way of life.

The average teen-ager may cause a bit of confusion with the folks. Be reassured, moms and dads—just look under the teen-ager's outer guise: You will find your own son or daughter—and they are pretty important!

The present day teen-ager is faced with the problem of being the subject of many controversial topics, observed Aleck Janoulis, 15, Atlanta student at Henry Grady High School. For this reason, and various others, he continued, teen-agers find they prefer to be around their own age group. . . . The rock 'n' roll era has introduced a new type of "bop talk" . . . teen-agers . . . have adapted themselves more readily to this kind of talk than adults. . . . Teen-agers use this slang freely, never giving it a second thought. Adults that hear . . . think it is sassy or brazen. I believe adults would not take this attitude if they could understand the more popular "bop" expressions.

Social Circle student Louisa Walton, 16, pointed out that teen-agers' language may be divided into two groups: . . . those who desire to imitate their idol, Elvis Presley, therefore using such expressions as "dig that cool cat." Frankly, this sort of conversation irritates me, in that it seems to be a poor excuse for acting grown-up. The second group, she continued, are those who hear careless language at school . . . and eventually they fall into line with the majority . . . who are not really conscious of their atrocious English.

The situation is not hopeless, she added, for as we grow older and wish to be more refined, we become more and more conscious of the way we talk and act, knowing that we must try to set a good example for others.

Martha Dickey, 14, who recently moved from Maryland to Atlanta, where she will enter the 10th grade at Christ The King High School in September, observed that teen-agers have a language of their own, but what is so extraordinary about that? People can be divided into four categories: Babies, children, teen-agers and adults. . . . All have a language of their own. Martha disclosed that in Maryland, the favorite slang expressions are "neat," "terrific," "fabulous" and "sensational." When teen-agers use these . . . they don't want to be sassy, but think they seem to naturally fit into their vocabulary.

While Linda Taylor, 15, Atlanta, doesn't think teen-talk sounds sassy, she admits it may sound weird to many adults. To us, this kind of language is just a load of fun, she wrote. Marjorie Griffin, 14, Decatur, declared teen-agers are not only speaking mixed-up, but recording stars are singing mixed-up. Some of the song titles are so crazy, even us teen-agers can't understand them.

Pat Snow, 18, Athens, is in complete support of today's vernacular when used in the proper situations. . . . Because I think precise Oxford English cannot convey thoughts in conversation with as much facility. . . . Far too little is said about the versatility of our generation.

Joyce West, 17, Demorest, declared that teen-agers do speak a variation of the English language, which only we can "dig." But, most adults also use expressions that don't "rock" us. Maybe you think that with all the slang used good English will be forgotten. Never! Today's teen-agers are fully aware of the importance of good English, and they can speak it.

Brenda Daniels, 16, Fitzgerald, declared many of my friends' parents have adopted our expressions and adopted them to their own use. Brenda believes teen-terms were born because sometimes adult terms may seem too stuffy to fit teen-agers' moods. And sometimes just for fun.

TEEN-AGE ACTOR TAKES TIME OUT TO TALK
18-Year-Old Sal Mineo Visits Atlanta

Bobby-Soxers' Screen Idol Sal Mineo 'Just One of Gang' to Bronx Pals

By BETTY CARROLLTON

At 18, he's the idol of millions: Girls camp for hours in hotel corridors where he's staying just to catch a glimpse of his curly black hair and sparkling smile . . . fans have used every device from pretending to be long-distance phone operators to saying they're his producer or his wife just to hear Sal's voice.

But to the Bronx boys with whom he grew up, he's just one of the neighborhood gang. They razz him good-naturedly about his appeal to bobby-soxers, but to his chums, Sal is the same guy he was before he became a star. His popularity has zoomed since the release of his latest film, "The Young Don't Cry."

During a visit to Atlanta this week, the likable youth declared that his success as a star has brought only one real change: A loss of privacy.

"Everybody seems to know everything about me now," he said. "From what I do, to what I eat —and even what I wear to bed!"

The level-headed youth has not let fame go to his head. His success is shared by his parents, sister, and two older brothers. One of his brothers accompanies Sal on all his tours.

"We're all very proud of him," declared brother Vick, who came to Atlanta with the teen-age idol. "We always thought he was headed for the top. I guess the only person who's surprised that it came so fast is Sal."

"Most of the conversation at home is a combination of caskets and show business," Sal said with a grin. (Mr. Mineo is a casket-maker.)

"Several magazines have approached me about publishing some of the pictures I've taken," he explained.

Among them are a series of action shots of a bullfight in Mexico, an event that caused the flicker tough-guy to sympathize with the bull.

"I think our group was the only one that was booing the matador and cheering the bull," he recalled. "I just can't see killing for sport."

Sal prefers baseball, especially the New York Yankees' brand. His original ambition was to be a diamond star, but his parents felt he should devote some of his time to dramatic expression. They enrolled him in a dancing class, where a talent scout soon spotted him. He was selected for the role of Salvatore in "The Rose Tattoo" on Broadway. Only 11 then, his debut was followed by the role of the crown prince in "The King and I."

Then came a series of TV plays, the most outstanding of which was "Dino," with Sal in the title role. Selected one of the best TV plays of the season, "Dino" will soon be released as a movie, with Sal again in the lead. His other films include "Rebel Without a Cause," "Giant," "Crime in the Streets," "Somebody Up There Likes Me," and "The Living End."

Portraying a tough guy on the screen has its problems:

Recently, a mother coldly informed Sal she would never allow her daughter to date him. Referring to a TV role that pictured the youth as a "real switchblade all the way," the woman declared her daughter could never go out with "a boy like that." Sal explained he was only acting. But the mother refused to be convinced.

RECORD ROUNDUP

Windle Joins Young's Group

Don Windle, the Mobile youth who came to Atlanta as a soldier stationed at Ft. McPherson and remained to become one of the section's popular country and Western singers, has joined Army companion Faron Young's group of music-makers. Headed for a regular spot on the Grand Old Opera program in Nashville, Tenn., Don is the newest addition to the troupe, currently on personal appearance tours throughout the country.

"I worked with Faron while we were both stationed at Ft. Mac," Don recalled, "and, while I hate to leave Atlanta where everyone has been so nice, I'm looking forward to working with him again."

Faron and Don became well-known throughout the South when, with Third Army Special Services, they performed at practically all the Army posts, as well as special appearances for civilians, and on radio and television.

Don, a personable 25-year-old bachelor, had dreams of being a doctor while he was attending the University of Alabama. When he was stationed at Ft. Mac four years ago, he decided singing was more to his liking.

"I guess it was a holdover from childhood," he said. "I got a guitar when I was six, and started learning to play when my mother showed me a few chords."

His love of music has remained with him.

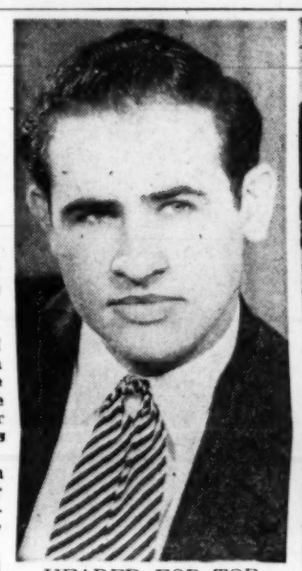

Following his Army release, Don worked at Atlanta radio and television stations, and for several months was employed at a radio station in Monroe.

Although his first record, "My Baby Don't Care," and "When Fools are Few," wasn't a top national seller, Don has hopes that his next disc-cutting session will show more profitable results. He's scheduled to wax "Big Money" and "My Song" with Chet Atkins.

After several years of "settling down," Don isn't looking forward with a great deal of eagerness to "living out of a suitcase again," which his new job will require.

"But I'm sure it will be worth it," he said. "Besides, I like to travel."

This new phase in his career is encouraging: Appearances on the Grand Old Opera have proved springboards to the top for numerous country and Western singers—including Faron Young.

What Are Ways Students Can Combat Gossip?

Is gossip as prevalent among America's teen-agers as it is among adults? Are high school students plagued by gossip-mongers, or is this pastime a threat only to the adult world? Do you know incidents when teen-agers have been hurt by "the wagging of idle tongues?" How can young people best combat this danger? How can they halt talk that hurts?

The Constitution will pay $10 in cash to the high school student who writes the best letter on this subject. Cash awards of $1 will be paid for each additional letter published. Address entries to Young Ideas Editor. Include name, address, age, school and grade. Letters must be postmarked by midnight Tuesday, Aug. 13, and should not exceed 250 words.

Workshop To Open On Tuesday

The annual Georgia Youth Workshop will open Tuesday at the Georgia Military Academy at College Park, bringing together young people and adults from recreation centers throughout the state.

Continuing through Friday, Aug. 16, the conclave will be highlighted by an address by Gov. Marvin Griffin on 'Youth Behind the Wheel" at a Wednesday morning session.

Workshop awards will be made Friday. They will include the Georgia Recreation Society Award to the youth club for the best promotion of the workshop; Edwina Wood award to the club for best participation in local community service projects; Davidson Cup to the youth club judged to be the most outstanding, and awards to clubs for the best scrapbooks.

Bob Martin, Atlanta, is chairman of the workshop committee. Committee members include C. V. Blankenship, Cliff Kerby, LaGrange; Mrs. Charles O'Rear, Commerce, and Miss Virginia Carmichael, Atlanta.

Atlantan Is Elected To Head International B'nai B'rith Girls

Elaine Beth Gilner, 17, is the new international president of B'nai B'rith Girls, an organization of some 37,000 teen-agers. She was elected at the 13th annual convention of the group, currently being held in Champaign, Ill.

Elaine, a 1957 graduate of Henry Grady High School, where she was "one of the most popular students," is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Gilner, 1315 Pasadena Ave., NE.

The attractive teen-ager, who last year served as international vice president of B'nai B'rith, "likes to stay busy." And she does. In addition to her activities with the Jewish young people's organization (she's served as first vice president of a seven-state district of B'nai B'rith girls, president of her local chapter, and an adviser for a junior group) Elaine was an outstanding participant in school activities.

As a senior at Grady, she was president of the Quill and Scroll and business manager of the school annual. She was a member of the Joe K's Social Club, an organization named for Joe Kelly, teacher at Grady who died of multiple sclerosis.

All this, and an "A" student, too!

Elaine managed to combine her duties as an international officer in B'nai B'rith with her studies when she attended the international executive committee meeting of the youth organization in Washington in February. She won extra credit in history class for her researcch work in congressional records in the Library of Congress.

During her stay in Washington, Elaine was among 15 leaders of B'nai B'rith girls, representing all sections of the United States and Canada, who took Salk anti-polio shots to open a campaign to promote wider use of the vaccine among young people.

THIS HANDSOME OUTDOOR TABLE IS PERFECT FOR HOT WEATHER

Serve Outdoors Without a Grill: Easy Casserole, Spicy Cole Slaw

By VIRGINIA DYSARD

No matter where, when or how it's done, the trend has turned toward outdoor eating.

On the porch, on a terrace, or in the back yard, now's the time for the warm weather buffet. Whether the party includes guests or just the family, the informality gives a restful and easy air to dinner.

The cook can also enjoy the luxury of outdoor eating. With a little organized planning she can have the dinner almost ready before family or friends arrive.

HEARTY CASSEROLE

If the menu is built around a hearty casserole a few minutes is all it will take to have the meal set before the hungry crew.

Outdoor eating does not require a grill; the trick of the buffet lies in proper use of the nearby kitchen. Besides cooking the casserole, reserves of food and beverages are kept there.

To keep hot things hot and cold things cold replenish various items from time to time.

RELISH TRAY

For different texture, a raw vegetable relish tray with chilled celery curls, carrot sticks, radish roses and cucumber slices makes a colorful, easy-to-handle appetizer. For the salad, try a spicy cole slaw of shredded red and white cabbage combined with crushed pineapple in a sour-sweet cream dressing.

What is better with the outdoor meal than a tall, frosty glass of lemonade. Its tart flavor will top off a meal to remember.

OUTDOOR BEANS

1 lb. dry navy or lima beans
½ lb. salt pork
⅔ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cans tomato sauce
⅔ cup water
½ cup wheat germ
2 tblsps. brown sugar
1 tblsp. vinegar
1 tsp. dry mustard
⅛ cup wheat germ

Pre-cook beans as directed on the package. Prepare sauce while beans are cooking. Remove rind from salt pork, cut into small cubes and fry slowly until lightly browned. Remove salt pork from pan; pour off excess grease leaving about 2 tblsps. of grease in pan. Simmer green pepper, onion and garlic in grease until transparent. Add tomato sauce, water, ½ cup wheat germ, brown sugar, vinegar and mustard; cook for 5 minutes. Add fried salt pork. Pour sauce over cooked beans; stir in carefully. Place in greased 2-qt. casserole. Sprinkle ⅓ cup wheat germ over top. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for 30-35 minutes.

LEMONADE READY MIX

4 tsps. grated lemon peel
½ cup sugar

Stir all ingredients together until dissolved. Allow ¼ cup of lemon syrup for each glass of lemonade. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

HAWAIIAN COLE SLAW

1½ cups shredded white cabbage
1½ cups shredded red cabbage
1 cup well drained crushed pineapple

Toss together, then blend with a sour cream dressing using—

1 cup sour cream
2 tblsps. of sugar
1 tblsp. of wine vinegar
2 tblsps. of mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste

Chill, and allow slaw to stand for at least half an hour before serving. Serves 6 to 8 people.

Burroughs To Attend Their Son's Wedding

By MARGARET McLEMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Burroughs and their son, William, will be leaving town this month for Philadelphia, where they will attend the marriage of their son, John Robert Crull Burroughs, to Miss Lea Day.

The marriage of the young couple will be solemnized Saturday, Aug. 24, at Long Shot, the home of Miss Day's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Day. Only the immediate members of the two families and a few close friends will attend the nuptials.

The couple met at the University of Mexico, where Miss Day is working toward a master's degree in music. Her fiance is majoring in English literature. They expect to graduate next February.

The couple will honeymoon at the Cloister, Sea Island, before returning to Albuquerque to resume their studies. When they graduate, their plans are to study at the Sorbonne in Paris.

LYNN SNYDER, who will be a senior at Westminster this year, will be traveling until school opens.

She was to leave today for a 10-day visit to Evanston, Ill., where she will divide her time between her grandmother, Mrs. T. E. Snyder, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McKay.

After her Illinois visit, she will come back to Atlanta, where she will be the house guest of her classmate, Patti Barth, until Aug. 31, when she takes off again, this time for New York City. She'll be joined there by her grandparents, the McKays, who will show her the sights of New York. On Sept. 5 Lynn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Kemp, arrive from their European tour on the Queen Mary. After a couple of days in New York, they will travel home together.

ANOTHER FUTURE DEB who is vacationing until almost time for school is Westminster senior Annie Gardner. She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gardner, left yesterday for two weeks at Englewood, Fla.

Dollie Cardwell will also have plenty to tell her classmates at Westminster. She leaves Tuesday for a week in the Virgin Islands.

FORMER ATLANTANS Mr. and Mrs. C. Gordon Statham of Toledo, Ohio, are the house guests of Mrs. Statham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Franklin of East Point. Mrs. Statham is the former Jane Franklin.

MAKE YOUR OWN STOLE to wrap yourself in the unusual of the season's favored fashion for warmth, prettiness, and complete femininity. Especially appropriate to wear over a simple black sheath or bare-top evening dress is this double-fringed one, and making it is the last word in simplicity. To order directions for making, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Women's Department, The Atlanta Constitution.

3 From Here Going To Aid Disaster Area

Selected from more than 2,000 Red Cross volunteers to render this service are Miss Frances Young, chairman of recognition in the office of volunteers; Miss Helen Miller, coordinator of volunteers in the Regional Blood Center, and Mrs. William D. Neal, chairman of Red Cross volunteer services of the Cobb County branch in Marietta.

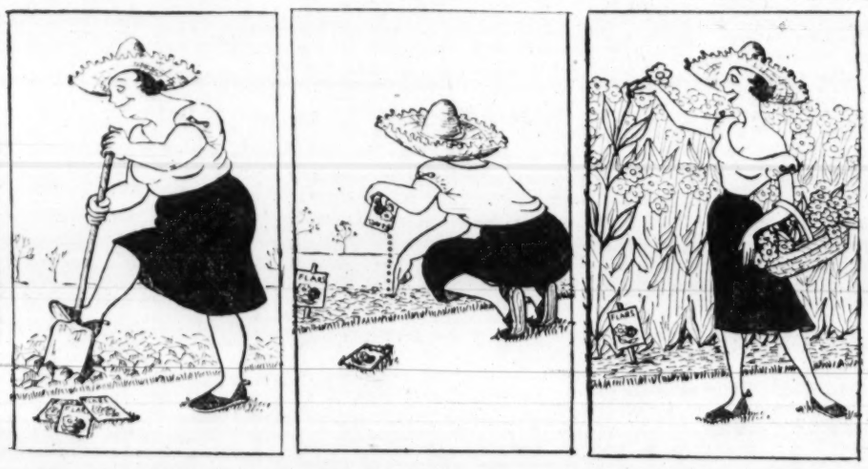

These volunteers will report to Lake Charles, La., the headquarters for disaster operations in Louisiana and Texas. They will serve on mobile canteens operating in the vicinity of Cameron, La., which was the hardest-hit section when hurricane Audrey struck the region on June 27.

The Red Cross emergency kitchen serves three full meals daily to approximately 2,000 persons in Cameron. Mobile canteens donated by AFL-CIO feed thousands of victims in the disaster-stricken areas. Red Cross will continue to operate these field kitchens, canteens and first aid units during the rehabilitation period.

Zonta Club Sets Meeting

The August meeting of the Atlanta Zonta Club will be held at the BPW clubhouse, 61 Eighth St., at 6:30 Tuesday, Aug. 13. Dinner will be served.

Two books will be reviewed as a part of the program of this meeting. Mrs. Christine Felts will review Chiang Kai-shek's "Soviet Russia in China," and "Empire of Fear," an autobiography by Vladimir and Evdokia Petrov, a husband and wife team, will be reviewed by Mrs. Christine Smith Gilliam.

Miss Fatty Planted a Garden, Now They Call Her Miss Slim

By YOLANDE GWIN

Once upon a time there was a woman who was very fat.

Dieting at intervals proved a failure.

But the woman kept thinking about lemon pie, and chocolate fudge sundaes, and hot rolls and mashed potatoes and butter and all the other calorie comrades.

Then that same tempting voice said, "Think thin, but think about green vegetables. And how slim and graceful flowers are as they grow, row after row."

SECRET WEAPON

She went out and started shoveling, raking, hoeing, squatting down to plant the seed, and bending down to weed.

And all the time she kept thinking—not thinking thin—but thinking about how envious the neighbors would be of her crop and how many ribbons she would win at the garden club show with all her flowers.

Miss Fatty became so interested in her garden that she talked her friends into boredom about her crop.

"I'm no longer muscle-bound," she would say with a note of authority. "Why, my rhomboideus major and minor, and my adductor magnus, and my platysma myoides and splenius are as limber as a puppeis!

Her friends would look at each other and wink because they had found out she meant her back muscles, her thighs and her neck, and they also saw that her waistline was shrinking.

Miss Fatty, who was now known as Miss Slim, was so excited over her vegetables that she couldn't wait to sample them, and served herself a fresh vegetable plate at every meal.

Before very long, she began to notice that her clothes were a little baggy and that her friends remarked about her slimness.

"MIRROR, MIRROR—"

As days went by she became so impressed with her luck at growing vegetables that she seldom, if ever, had time to think about the lemon pie, the chocolate fudge sundaes and hot rolls.

"What did you do to lose all that weight?" was a constant question she was asked.

"Well. . . ." she would begin, "you see, I took some packages of seed and I marked off a garden and. . . ."

The tempting voice finished for her. "I was thinking how thin flower stems are and how good and tasty fresh vegetables would be. That's all I did!"

Miss Brown Is Engaged

Mrs. K. C. Brown announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Louise, to Alfred Nelson Britt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Britt. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride-elect, 868 Oakhill Ave., SW, August 17.

Theta Sigma Phi Meets Tuesday

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta chapter of Theta Sigma Phi will be held in the downstairs dining room of the Town House cafeteria on Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 12:30 p.m.

Ruling on Pay of Marshals Moving to Sheriff Is Asked

Fulton County Attorney Harold Sheats was asked Friday to rule on whether two Civil Court deputy marshals can transfer into the sheriff's office at their same salaries.

The request came from the County Civil Service Board after a somewhat heated discussion on classified service regulations applicable to the transfer requests made by Deputy Marshals Drexel H. Bowdoin and Leon P. McKee.

The two men asked for a hearing before the board when Mrs. Ruth S. Knight, board secretary, turned down their transfer applications.

Mrs. Knight and Board Chairman Franklin Garrett said they interpreted the regulations to mean that transferring men into the sheriff's office at pay higher than other employes were making would require raising all salaries in the office in "one fell swoop."

Rex T. Reeves, attorney representing the two men, differed with this interpretation and said he believed the regulations would allow the men to transfer at their present pay.

Board Member Henry Troutman wanted to know why the matter was even before the board since Sheriff T. Ralph Grimes already had filled the positions from a register of applicants.

Reeves said the two men wanted things straightened out so they could transfer into any upcoming vacancies in the sheriff's office, where pay scales are higher than in the marshal's office.

They previously had sought transfers into jobs created by the county commissioners to help bolster security at the county jail. They said the sheriff and Civil Court authorities agreed to the transfer but Mrs. Knight said regulations prohibited it.

Mrs. Knight said "there's no prejudice and no feeling. It's a matter of policy."

James O. Moore, the other board member, made the motion for the matter to be referred to Sheats to settle it.

Indict Atlantan In Slaying of His Wife's Boss

A husband who, police said, shot a Brookhaven meat-market manager he saw in a car with his wife Monday was indicted on a murder charge Friday by the Fulton County Grand Jury.

An indictment returned by the jury charged Frank S. Mayfield, 36, of 4015 Caldwell Pl., NE, with killing John B. Smith, 27, of Rte. 2, Doraville. Mrs. Mayfield was an employe of Smith.

Boys Are in the Chips, But the Parade's Off

DARTMOUTH, N.S., Aug. 9 (AP)—A potato chip company's float was withdrawn from a parade this week before it started. Boys had swarmed aboard and eaten all the chips on display. The company will try again Monday at another parade—but without real chips.

Your Stars Today

Daily Guide—The full moon is a time of rising floods, of sea tides, and of emotions. August's full tide and those of next month are always a little higher than the average, so watch your own emotional tides this weekend.

The Aquarians and Leos are the ones most likely to be influenced, but moods can be changing for the majority. Plan to enjoy the pickup of excitement, but not to throw yourself into it.

For Aquarians and Leos, partnerships, marriage and dealing with others is stressed. The Virgoans can be aggressive, talkative and restless, but also popular socially and stirred up emotionally; this is their month to act, talk and get around.

Happy Birthday, Leo! You may have had some unusual experiences already, but these are by no means all that you will have in the next few years.

You can expect to break rather radically with the past, to try new things, break out independently and can make your mark in the world in the years to come.

If you act erratically and without good thinking, you could upset the apple cart, so keep steady through contacts with older and longtime loved ones and friends.

Billy Graham

God Adds Strength to Your Own

QUESTION: My own health is poor, and now my aged sister has come to live with us. She has nowhere else to go, but I wonder how I can carry on another week. What should I do?—M. J. K.

ANSWER: The Bible says: "As thy days so shall thy strength be." (Deuteronomy 33:25). You don't have to rely on your own strength alone. If you know it's your duty to care for your sister, don't be afraid to assume this added responsibility. When you are doing the Lord's work, He gives you a power beyond your own. You may get weary, but if you let Christ carry half the load you will not fall. Think of Jesus as always by your side. Share your burden with Him. Stop worrying for fear you can't carry on through next week. Do what you have to do today, and leave the future in God's hands.

As you wait upon your sister, put a little extra love into the things you do for her. This, like a spring tonic, will bring new life into your body as well as into your soul. Love has performed this miracle in every age. Christ told us that all we do for others we do for Him. Think of this, and as you care for your sister you'll get a double satisfaction.

Don't be afraid your strength will fail. "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee." (Psalm 55:22).

Bean Report Held Bullish

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Soybean futures fell rather sharply at times on the Board of Trade today but it was a dull session as far as other grains were concerned.

Most traders remained on the sideline pending issuance of the government's Aug. 1 crop report after the close. Dealers feared the soybean production forecast — the government's first of the year—would be higher than recent private estimates which ranged from 430 million bushels up to the size of last year's crop of 455 million bushels.

Traders were greatly fooled. The forecast issued after the close was for only 428 million bushels. This is an extremely low forecast as far as the trade is concerned, and traders said there was little doubt it will be interpreted bullishly when trading opens Monday.

Tape Slips Again In Slow Session

Volume Smallest in 5 Months; Public Stays Out of Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—The stock market slipped a little lower today in the slowest session in five months.

The market was down at the start, turned mixed about midday, settled back some in the afternoon, then improved a bit near the close.

As a result, much of the list was a jumble of narrow gains and losses. Motors were up fractions to a point. Steels were mixed. Metals and aircrafts gave some ground.

Volume was the smallest since 1,540,000 shares changed hands on last March 19.

Brokers said the bulk of the trading was done by professionals. They reported the public generally was out of the market, awaiting a better picture of the business outlook after Labor Day.

The boosting of the discount rate late yesterday by four regional Federal Reserve banks had little impact, because Wall Street had been expecting the move for some time.

There was some milling about in prices of steel stocks as the Senate Antitrust subcommittee continued its inquiry into the $6-a-ton steel price increase that went into effect July 1.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were lower on volume of 720,000 shares compared with yesterday's 710,000 shares. Going down were Creole Petroleum, Fairchild Camera, Glen Alden, Humble, International Petroleum, Mesabi Iron, Pepperell and St. Lawrence Corp.

New Props Drop Cotton

The market experienced heavy selling from the opening bell. The pressure came from commission houses, New Orleans dealers and hedges.

Most of the selling, however, was caused by Thursday's announcement on the loan for the 1957 cotton crop. The news came after the market closed and today was the first time that the market had a chance to discount the development.

The secretary of agriculture announced that the loan rate for the 1957 crop would be based on 78 per cent of parity. Many traders had expected the basis to be 80 per cent or higher.

Atlanta Produce

Some vegetables were very scarce or cleaning up early on the Atlanta produce market Friday morning in spite of rather light demand. Receipts were only light to moderate for most commodities, according to the A.M.S., and supply was especially short on green corn, okra, field peas, snap and pole beans, yellow crookneck squash, local tomatoes, cucumbers and cabbage. California iceberg lettuce continued to advance in price. Greens were easier as collards sold 75-1.25 dozen and turnip greens mostly 1.00-1.25 bushel. Georgia cabbage sold 1.75-2.00 per bag with poorer lower. Sweet potatoes were mostly steady as bushels of Alabama All Golds brought 3.50-4.25 and Georgia Porto Ricans 4.00-4.75. Irish potatoes were about unchanged at mostly 1.35-1.50 per 50-pound bag of various round white varieties from Alabama and eastern points.

Peaches were not quiet as plentiful but South Carolina bulk offerings still ranged 1.50-4.50 and very few best 5.00-6.00 bushel. Pineapple pears from Georgia were slow at 75-1.25, mostly 1.00 bulk per bushel in job lots. Few cantaloupes sold 1.50-2.00, best mostly 2.00 bushel with few higher. Watermelons were dull and plentiful. Georgia various varieties sold 10 cents to 75 cents each according to size with most offerings small to medium at 15-40 cents each.

Snap beans advanced to range of 3.00-3.75 few, fair low as 2.50; pole beans brought 3.00-6.00 with North Carolina best mostly 5.50-6.00. No squash was quoted and few okra sold early for 3.00-4.00 per bushel. Butterbeans ranged 3.50-5.00, mostly 4.00-4.50; purple hull peas ranged 2.00-2.50 and high as 3.00 with few early sales of Crowders 2.00-2.25. Few cucumbers were 4.00 bushel basket and eggplant 1.00-2.25; medium to large bell peppers from Georgia were 1.75-2.50 with few best large 2.75-3.00. Few sacked white corn, 5 dozen, best brought 2.75 and crates of fancy yellow, 5 dozen, 3.50. Few Georgia Concord grapes were 1.00-1.25 per peck basket. Local eight-quart baskets of tomatoes were 1.50-2.00, few higher and poorer 75-1.25; 12-quart baskets were 2.00-2.50, mostly 2.25-2.50 and some poorer low as 1.50.

Butter and Eggs

ATLANTA EGG MARKET (USDA-GDA)

Eggs: Market structure generally held unchanged with a relatively good movement prevailing on all sizes. Offerings from nearby producing areas were light and in a few instances short of needed requirements. Arrivals of mixed colors consisting of receipts from Midwestern producing areas were moderately heavy with prices reported for large unchanged to lower reflecting recent irregular price trends in Northern terminal markets. Buyers quality conscious as hot weather defects more prominent and increased difficulty encountered obtaining quality fully representative of grade. Prices paid by first receivers delivered Atlanta, cases included (includes nearby produced) (min. 80 per cent A quality) whites, large 44c, medium 35c, small 22-23c, mostly 22c; browns, too few to report. (min. 60 per cent A) mixed colors, large 38½-42½c, medium 34-35c, small, too few to report. Prices to retailers consumer grades, cases included, store-door delivery, cartoned, min. 1-case sales (includes direct sales by nearby producers) grade A large white 50-58c, mostly 51-53c; large brown, too few to report; large mixed colors 48-52c, mostly 48-50c; medium white 44-51c, mostly 44-46c; medium brown, too few to report; medium mixed colors 42-46c, mostly 43-44c; small white 30-40c, mostly 31-32c; small brown and small mixed colors, too few to report; grade B large mixed colors, few 43c.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—A limited and spotty demand continued to prevail in the cotton goods market Friday. A small volume of print cloths, sheetings and some other heavy goods was sold for quick delivery.

Business in woolen and worsted goods remained at a slow pace. A few small orders for spring 1958 women's wear lines were accepted, but in general most activity centered in filling of previous bookings.

Moderate sales of lining twills, pigment and acetate taffetas for third and fourth-quarter delivery were reported in the rayon goods market. Mills reported further underlying demand, with some spot delivery goods also wanted.

POULTRY

ATLANTA POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

Ready-to-cook poultry. Market position unchanged pricewise. Trading generally active. Movement of hens stimulated by promotional activity. Demand for broilers or fryers continued good. Offerings of all sizes adequate. Prices to retailers grade A, ice-packed, mixed sizes broilers or fryers (small lots) 33-37c, mostly 34-36c. Hens over 4 lbs. 29-34c, mostly 31-32c; under 4 lbs. 26-30c, mostly 27c.

NORTH GEORGIA LIVE POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

Broilers or Fryers—Trading fairly active. Demand generally good, although irregular at a few points ranging from fair to active. Offerings adequate and supplies well cleared at most points. Total volume includes approximately 30 per cent booked for Saturday. Prices: Broilers or fryers 2¾-3½ lbs. at farms 20 cents; f.o.b. plants 21 cents. Prices Thursday at farms 20 cents; f.o.b. plants 21 cents. Hens: Prices unchanged to slightly higher on heavy type. Trading light. Prices: Heavy type at farms 16-17 cents, mostly 16 cents; f.o.b. plants 17½-18 cents; light type at farms, too few to report.

NEW YORK POULTRY

Dressed poultry, turkeys, ducks and squabbs steady. Turkeys, fresh, ice packed, young hens 10-14 lbs. 31-32, 14-16 lbs. 30-31.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Prices in domestic and world sugar futures were lower with trading quiet today. The market attracted selling which was attributed to dull conditions in raws.

The price for world raws was nominally quoted at 4.00 cents a pound f.o.b. Cuba.

Wheat Crop Reduced in U.S. Estimate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's corn crop at 3,065,771,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 914,978,000 bushels.

The corn estimate is 53,859,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 3,001,912,000 bushels. It compares with 3,451,292,000 produced last year and 3,120,484,000 for the 10-year (1946-55) average.

The wheat figure is 25,115,000 bushels less than 940,093,000 forecast a month ago. It compares also with 997,207,000 produced last year and 1,131,000,000 for the 10-year average.

Some corn land was withdrawn from use under the soil bank payment program, while wheat was grown under a marketing quota and planting allotment as well as the soil bank plan.

JIG-TIME AT FIVE POINTS—More than 100 East Point citizens stormed Atlanta Friday night and did a square dance on a not-so-lonely traffic island at Five Points. Garbed in various "Gay 90" costumes and beards, they shouted raucous invitations to motorists to visit them Saturday during their 70th birthday anniversary activities.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Kurzemnieks

Mrs. Lidija Kurzemnieks, 69, died Friday at her residence, 332 Melrose Ave., Decatur.

Mrs. Kurzemnieks was born in Latvja and had lived in the United States six years. She had lived in Decatur four years. She was the widow of Jans Kurzemnieks.

Slum Projects For Americus, Hartwell Cleared

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 9—The Housing and Home Finance Agency has announced approval of slum-clearance plans for Hartwell and Americus, opening the way for both Georgia towns to apply for federal construction loans.

It is understood both will seek aid in building low-rent public housing.

The HHFA said Mayor Lee E. Carter of Hartwell and Mayor Fred P. Bowen of Americus have been informed of the approval.

The agency said Mayor Carter was told his city must revise certain ordinances and codes before federal money can be forthcoming. The revision is already under way, a spokesman said.
